SENATE'S FINAL BALLOT ON D. C. BILL DUE TODAY

All Items Passed Except Taxicab Meter Provision.

LAST-MINUTE SNARL LAUNCHED BY BLACK

$9,500,000 Lump Sum Is Agreed To; Tax Rate Cut Ban Is Restored.

The Senate yesterday raced rapidly through the $39,000,000 District appropriations bill, approved all but one of the numerous committee increases, then launched into a floor debate on the local taxicab situation that delayed a final vote on the bill until today.

The last-minute snarl was precipitated by Senator Hugo Black (Democrat), Alabama, who moved to reconsider the vote by which the Senate earlier agreed to lift the restriction against Public Utility Commission enforcement of its taxicab meter order.

A heated debate followed, with Senator William E. Borah (Republican), Idaho, leading the attack on the Senate Appropriations Committee's proposal to sanction meters, with a 25-cent charge for the first 2 miles and a 10-cent charge for every mile thereafter.

Record Vote to Be Forced.

A dozen senators joined in the debate, Senator Hiram Bingham (Republican), Connecticut; Senator Hamilton Kean (Republican), New Jersey, and Senator Royal S. Copeland (Democrat), New York, taking the flooor to defend the committee's proposal. A record vote on the issue will be forced today.

Earlier, the Senate agreed to a $9,500,000 Federal lump sum contribution to the District, as against the House $6,500,000 recommendation, over the objection of Senator William H. King (Democrat), Utah.

On an unexpected motion of Chairman Bingham, of the Senate District Appropriations subcommittee, the chamber put back in the bill a limitation forbidding the District Commissioners from reducing real estate taxes in the District below the present $1.70 rate. This limitation was stricken in the House on a point of order.

Sixteenth Street Paving.

Senator King succeeded in having an item of $105,000, providing for paving Sixteenth street from Columbia road to Tiger Bridge, stricken from the bill, on a viva voce vote on his motion. It was the only decrease made in the committee's recommendations.

Senator King's motion provoked

Roving-Boy Fund Refused in House

Increase for Trade Commission Likewise Is Rejected.

(Associated Press.)

A Senate proposal to spend $22,000,000 next fiscal year in training 88,000 unemployed and homeless youths in citizens' military training camps was rejected today by the House. The House thus sent the $370,000,000 War Department appropriation bill back to conference.

The House rejected a Senate amendment to the $1,000,000,000 independent offices supply measure increasing from $510,000 to $1,101,000 the amount for the Federal Trade Commission. The vote was 89 to 6.

The Senate approved the conference report on the $308,000,000 naval bill. Similar action by the House is expected.

JAPANESE CAPTURE JEHOL DEFENSES

Invaders Now Within 75 Miles of Their Goal; Chinese Chief Quits.

Suichung, Manchuria, March 1 (A. P.).—The two great Chinese strongholds, which blocked the path to Jehol City, capital of Jehol province, fell to the Japanese invaders today.

Shortly after nightfall Gen. Heijiro Hattori's Fourteenth brigade entered the City of Lingyuan, only about 75 miles from the capital. Brisk fighting, the Rengo (Japanese) News Agency correspondent reported, preceded the occupation.

Earlier in the day the Japanese announced that the Fourth cavalry brigade, commanded by Maj. Kennosuke Mogi, had seized Chihfeng, which is about 100 miles northeast of the capital.

Previous dispatches from the scene of operations said that main Chinese defense forces were concentrated at Lingyuan and Chihfeng. In Peiping great importance was attached to these two cities, as they are situated at key passes leading through the mountains to Jehol City. Some Peiping observers expected the Chinese to hold the two cities several weeks, as the terrain is excellent for defense.

Only the southern fringe of the western mountain wastes of the province remained in Chinese hands tonight. Japanese leaders spoke of the possibility of a complete breakdown in the defenses which would enable them to complete the subjugation of the province before March 10, the army's memorial day, and thereby better the time set down in their offense schedule.

Chihfeng, transportation center of the province, fell without offering any resistance, the Japanese reported. They asserted that the occupation of Jehol City might be only the matter of a few hours. During the afternoon the eleventh infantry brigade, commanded by Maj. Gen. Kunizo Matsuda, passed through Foshaoti, 38 miles southeast of Chihfeng.

Gen. Shih Wen-Hua, in command of the tenth Jehol cavalry, who was charged with the defense of Chihfeng, went over to the Japanese, proclaiming his allegiance to the state of Manchukuo, to which the conquerors intend to annex Jehol. Japanese and

HINDENBURG ORDERS DEATH FOR TREASON

Communists Fleeing Before Drive, With Hundreds Under Arrest.

Berlin, March 1 (A.P.).—Hermann Wilhelm Goering, minister without portfolio in the Hitler government, declared in a speech tonight that the incendiary fire at the Reichstag building Monday night was meant to inaugurate a series of violent acts culminating in a Communist revolution.

For this reason, he asserted, the government was justified in promulgating its drastic decrees of the last two days, which have greatly increased penalties for treason and have placed Germany under virtual martial law.

The Communists, the cabinet minister said, have spread handbills calling for the formation of groups for so-called self-protection, but really intended to provoke civil war.

Death for Treason.

Communist material which has been seized, he continued, disclosed forged orders to National Socialist storm troopers to be in readiness after the election next Sunday night to seize Berlin by force. Capt. Goering interpreted this as an obviously intended threat to terrorize the population. He declared that the lives of Communists and Socialists were not endangered so long as they kept strictly within the law.

The Nation-wide process of squelching communism continued unabated today, with hundreds of leading Communists undergoing arrest while many others fled into hiding.

Meanwhile, President von Hindenburg greatly increased the powers of the government by a decree raising the penalties for espionage, treason and subversive acts. The decree established the death penalty for disclosing or attempting to obtain important militant secrets, and specified ten years' imprisonment for transmitting to foreign governments objects or news which, even if false, should not be disseminated in the interest of the Reich.

Arms Dump Found.

In Mecklenburg 120 Communists were arrested, in Aachen 100, and smaller numbers were taken into custody elsewhere. Extensive precautions were resorted to for the protec-

Walsh to Punish Rum Violation Until Repeal

Daytona Beach, Fla., March 1 (A.P.).—Senator Thomas J. Walsh, who will be Attorney General in the Roosevelt Cabinet, said today that liquor law violators need expect no leniency from the Department of Justice merely because Congress has sent the repeal question back to the States.

As long as the prohibition laws are on the statute books, said Senator Walsh, his department will do its best to enforce them.

Mayor Rests Well In Oxygen Room

Cermak Sleeps as Doctors Predict He Will Survive Zangara Shot.

Miami, Fla., March 1 (A.P.).—Mayor Anton Cermak slept peacefully tonight in a specially constructed oxygen chamber while his physicians issued optimistic statements on his condition.

The Chicago executive was moved into the chamber from his hospital room tonight, soon after his doctors predicted he would live barring unforeseen circumstances.

The oxygen chamber, measuring 9 by 9 feet, was sent here from New York by plane. Physicians had said earlier today they probably would not use it, but tonight they ordered their patient transferred to the chamber to relieve strain on his lungs. Air containing 80 per cent of oxygen was pumped into the room and the wounded executive rested comfortably.

16-MILLION CUT OFF TREASURY BILL BY HOUSE

Measure, Given Senate, Includes Wide Power for Roosevelt.

SUBSIDY OF AIR MAIL SLASHED $4,000,000

Impasse on Hill Ends With East Wing Action Due Today or Tomorrow.

By ROBERT C. ALBRIGHT.

The House yesterday approved and sent to the Senate a compromise conference agreement on the Treasury-Postoffice bill carrying extensive reorganization powers for Franklin D. Roosevelt and embracing $16,000,000 more in economies than when it first left conference.

Senate action today or tomorrow appeared a certainty last night. Spectacular House approval yesterday followed an unexpected early morning break in the impasse between House and Senate conferees on outstanding provisions of the economy rider.

The conference agreement, and the subsequent House action, junked the Bratton amendment directing department heads to make 5 per cent cuts in annual appropriations, and threw out the McKellar amendment requiring Board of Tax Appeal review of tax refunds in excess of $20,000.

Air Mail Subsidy Reduced.

When all differences had been roned out, the report called for abolition of the Bureau of Efficiency, a reduction in the air mail subsidy from $19,000,000 to $15,000,000, continuation of the ban on automatic promotions in the Federal service, and an 8 1-3 per cent pay cut for enlisted military personnel.

At least one of these features, the $4,000,000 slash in air mail appropriations, is expected to provoke a heated controversy when the report comes before the Senate, but it is not counted on to defeat the bill.

The sweeping grant of the reorganization power promised the incoming President is the broadest ever proposed for a President. Under this authorization, Mr. Roosevelt can merge, transfer or abolish any Government agency with the single exception of executive departments. It is in the realm of possibility that even a department could be abolished, through the expedient of transferring all of its functions.

Provision Is Retroactive.

When the provision becomes law, the President's reorganization orders can be stopped only by a joint resolution which could be vetoed by the President. They could be stopped then only by a two-thirds vote of both houses, within 60 days of the issuance of the orders.

The conference agreement retrieves approximately $16,000,000 of the $168,000,000 in economies rejected by the House before the bill went to conference a second time. These in-Boettcher Freed in Denver; $60,000 Payment Is Reported.

Denver, Mar. 1 (A.P.).—Charles Boettcher 2d, wealthy Denver broker kidnaped February 12, was released tonight by his abductors and returned to his home at 10:15 p. m. (mountain standard time). He was brought to the back door of his residence at 777 Washington street by a police car.

It was from the driveway of this house that he was taken by the kidnapers who carried him away after thrusting a note into the hands of his wife demanding $60,000 ransom.

Just after young Boettcher arrived at his home, his father, Claude K. Boettcher, arrived at his big stone mansion at 400 East Eighth street. The elder Boettcher was very much excited and refused to answer questions. He hastened into the house accompanied by a friend.

In Adams County, officers warned by Denver police to be on the lookout for the kidnapers' car, fired several shots into a small maroon-colored sedan when the two men within it failed to heed a command to halt.

Kansas City, March 1 (A.P.).—Harry Haley, an uncle of Charles Boettcher 2d, who was freed unharmed by kidnapers tonight, said he was informed by his wife by telephone from Denver that payment of $60,000 ransom preceded the young broker's release.

ANSELL'S SUIT ASKS $500,000 FROM LONG

D. C. Supreme Court Plaint Says Senator Called Him "Crook" and "Liar."

(Associated Press.)

For having been called a scoundrel, crook and liar by Huey P. Long, of Louisiana, on the floor of the Senate, Brig. Gen. Samuel T. Ansell, retired, yesterday sued the self-styled "Kingfish" for $500,000 damages.

Long had said he would waive congressional immunity for his remarks, but the senator, informed of the suit, said his waiver applied to Louisiana courts only.

Ansell filed the action in the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia. Under the circumstances, this court or higher ones may have to pass upon whether Long actually did intend to waive immunity, and if so whether a member can by a declaration cast off the protection

Anthracite Wage Board Says It Is Deadlocked

(United Press.)

The wage dispute in the giant anthracite coal fields remained unsettled last night after the Board of Arbitration officially reported inability to agree.

The controversy was precipitated a year ago when operators proposed a 35 per cent wage reduction, which the miners rejected. The dispute then was referred to the conciliation board composed of George Rublee, attorney, and Frank Morrison, an official of the American Federation of Labor. No discussion upon the amount of the proposed wage cut entered into the deliberations, Rublee explained, because Morrison remained steadfastly opposed to any pay slash.

ROOSEVELT TO ARRIVE TONIGHT; CONCERT TO OPEN UP FESTIVITIES

Curtain to Go Up At Pan-American Building.

VISITORS POUR INTO CAPITAL

Gen. MacArthur Will Be Grand Marshal of Parade.

The first curtain of the inaugural ceremonies will be rung up tonight at the Pan-American Union when thousands of the visitors already arrived for the mighty celebration to last through Sunday will attend the promenade concert.

This function will give to the tens of thousands who are reaching the Capital daily their first contact with the warm welcome of Washington for them and for Franklin D. Roosevelt and his new administration.

With flags flying and bunting high, the city is in readiness for the horde of visitors, the vanguard of which was yesterday led by Mrs. John E. King, who will represent Gov. Miriam A. Ferguson of Texas.

Promenade Concert Free.

The promenade concert will be open to the public. Neither tickets nor invitations will be necessary to attend the concert, which will be by the Marine Band and the Washington Choral Society.

Others of the 36 State governors or their representatives who will attend the rites are expected to reach the city today and all will be here in time for the great reception for governors and distinguished guests at the Pan-American tomorrow night.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur, Army chief of staff, will be grand marshal of the parade, the committee announced yesterday when it had learned definitely that Gen. John J. Pershing could not act in that capacity.

First Musical Unit.

The Army Band, the first musical unit in the parade, has been awarded the distinction of playing the "Franklin Delano Roosevelt March," composed by the new Secretary of the Treasury designate.

As the Navy Band passes the new President's stand it will strike up "Anchors Aweigh," while the Marine Band will play the traditional Marine hymn, "Halls of Montezuma."

The weather is still a question of moment in the making of inaugural plans. The Weather Bureau will not make a definite forecast for Saturday until tonight.

The notables who will accompany Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Hoover on their traditional trip from the White

Walter Williams Spurns Post of Minister to China

Columbia, Mo., March 1 (A.P.).—Dr. Walter Williams, president of the University of Missouri, today told newspapermen that "in justice to the obligation laid upon me at the university in these difficult times," he could not consider representing the United States as Minister to China.

Selection of Dr. Williams to the diplomatic post has been urged by Gov. Guy B. Park, Wallace Crossley, of Warrensburg, president of the Missouri congressional delegation, and certain leaders in China.

Tear Gas Subdues Fugitive of Asylum

Deputy Wounded During Home Siege; Mother, 96, Unhurt.

Depue, Ill., March 1 (A.P.).—Lawrence Fox, fugitive from a State asylum, who was besieged for six hours in his mother's home near here today, was overpowered and captured later by officers.

Deputy sheriffs answered Fox's gunfire with tear-gas bombs. Lem Spaulding, a deputy, reached the house, argued with the fugitive and then wrestled with him. Two more officers arrived in time to help disarm Fox of his shotgun. Eugene Flaherty, another deputy, was wounded by buckshot. He is not in a serious condition.

Fox was held in the Bureau County Jail at Princton and will be taken back to the State asylum at East Moline tomorrow. His 96-year-old mother was in the house during the siege. She was reported to have suffered mildly from the tear gas. Because of her presence, the officers did not fire at the house.

Roosevelt Would Rent His New York House

New York, March 1 (A.P.).—A smile and a chuckle were predominant today as the next President received newspapermen in his bedroom at the Hyde Park home, up the Hudson River, where he was getting his inaugural haircut from Erwin McDuffie, Negro valet. He was in his pajamas and a newspaper was on his lap.

"Tonight I am going to spend packing up," said Mr. Roosevelt. "By the way," he added, "I am going to try to rent my New York house."

"Would you give a four-year or an eight-year lease on it?"

"I would be glad to get a one-month lease," he said.

Mr. Roosevelt added that Hyde Park was the family home henceforth and that he would return to the estate on the Hudson River for his summers.

NAMING OF RAINEY FORECAST TONIGHT

McDuffie Men Also Confident That Alabaman Will Be Next Speaker.

By J. BERNARD McDONNELL.

Representative Henry T. Rainey (Democrat), Illinois, whose shock of hair has become a shimmering halo about his head in the course of his long and frequent battles for the under dog, will be named Speaker of the House of the Seventy-third Congress at a Democartic party caucus tonight.

It is not likely that the veteran Democratic leader will be named by his party as its candidate for Speaker of the next House without a vote. But the swelling Rainey tide is such that he may be named by acclamation, without the formality of a detailed vote.

The emergence of Representative Rainey as the candidate for Speaker developed in the last few days. Representative John McDuffie, of Alabama, had staged a terrific drive for votes. Representative John E. Rankin, of Mississippi, had opposed the caucus tonight and opposed any action if the caucus were held.

Representative Joseph W. Byrns, of Tennessee, chairman of the powerful Appropriations Committee and one of the most beloved members of the House, only claimed that he was a candidate and his managers claimed that he had the greatest "secondary strength" of any of the candidates.

Although gossip has linked the name of Representative Rainey with that of Representative William B. Bankhead, of Alabama, as possible Speak-

Dreiser Party Charges Dropped in Kentucky

Pineville, Ky., March 1 (A.P.).—Indictments against Theodore Dreiser and members of his party who sought to investigate conditions in the eastern Kentucky coal fields in November, 1931, were dismissed today in Bell County Circuit Court here.

The New York novelist and Miss Marie Pergain, Mrs. Adelaide Walker, Charles Rumford Walker, Lester Cohen, John Dos Passos, Sam Ornitz, A. Gahns, Celia Juhn and Melvin Levy were charged with criminal syndicalism. In addition, Dreiser and Miss Pergain were named in a separate indictment which also was dismissed.

Philadelphia, March 1 (A.P.).—Countess Alexandra Tolstoy was guarded by three detectives today while she addressed the students of Drexel Institute. Because of recent threats received by the countess, the daughter of the late Count Leo Tolstoy, the detectives remained concealed throughout her attack on the Soviet government of Russia.

CHEERS GREET HIS PROGRESS

President-elect Looks Forward With Boyish Pleasure.

New York, March 1 (A.P.).—Through cheering lanes of neighbor New Yorkers, Franklin D. Roosevelt motored down the Hudson River Valley tonight on the first stage of his trip to the White House.

Reaching his New York City home at dusk, the President-elect received a group of important visitors before turning to the final chores of packing for tomorrow's train ride to Washington.

William H. Woodin, the new Secretary of the Treasury, met Mr. Roosevelt here with a fresh report on the business situation. He was cheerful, as usual, after his Washington visit.

Light of heart and eagerly looking forward to the White House with almost schoolboy enthusiasm, Mr. Roosevelt, nevertheless, is fully cognizant of the economic condition.

Calmly Holding Fire.

Mr. Woodin gave his usual answer when he left the Roosevelt house after an hour's conference and was asked what had taken place. He said he and the President-elect had been discussing "Cruikshank's drawings."

Light of heart and eagerly looking forward to the White House with almost schoolboy enthusiasm, Mr. Roosevelt, nevertheless, is fully cognizant of the economic condition.

He is calmly holding his fire, but his friends say he is prepared for prompt action on the "new deal" he has promised the Nation. He wants to wait until he is President. He may act sooner, but that is unlikely.

Will Summon Congress.

He will call a special session of the new Congress and whether that will be immediately or for April is believed to depend on last-minute developments. He will not hesitate to act immediately.

BYRD TO TAKE OATH IN SENATE SATURDAY

Swanson Sends Resignation Effective at Close of Session Friday.

(Associated Press.)

Senator Swanson, of Virginia, yesterday resigned his Senate seat effective at the conclusion of Friday's business, making it possible for former Gov. Byrd, his successor, to take the oath with other new senators at noon Saturday.

Swanson, who will be Franklin D. Roosevelt's Secretary of the Navy, dispatched his resignation to Gov. Pollard by mail after he and the Virginia chief executive had talked by long distance telephone.

Under the terms of the resignation, Swanson will answer the last roll call of the Senate as it now is constituted. The resignation read "effective at the conclusion of the legislative day March 3" which may be Friday night or Saturday morning. By the simple process of recessing instead of adjourning the Senate might continue to work until noon Saturday as of the legislative day of March 3.

Byrd to Take Oath.

In any case, it was said at Swanson's office, he will relinquish his seat in time to permit Byrd to stand in the Senate well with other new members of the body and take the oath of office.

In that way he will rank along with them. In order to have ranked ahead of them it would have been necessary for him to take the oath at a prior Senate session. The oath is administered only while the Senate is in session.

Swanson's decision to resign came after he had announced Monday he would not resign until the Senate adjourns, which probably will be next week. A desire to permit Byrd to rank with the whole group of new members was given as the reason for his changing his mind. Persons close to him pointed out to him Tuesday that by continuing in office he would cause Byrd to rank after all the rest.

Byrd One of 16 New Senators.

Swanson's letter of transmittal to the Governor read:

"I do this so that my successor may suffer no inconvenience so far as Senate prestige is concerned with the incoming senators, whose terms begin March 4 this year."

Swanson will have concluded more than 22 years continuous senatorial service when he gives up his seat. He was appointed by Gov. Mann in 1910 to succeed the late Senator John W. Daniel.

Byrd will be one of a group of sixteen new senators who will take the oath Saturday. Thirteen were elected. The other three will be the successors to Senators Swanson, Hull and Walsh, who go into the Cabinet.

Byrd's chances of getting the committee assignments he asks are enhanced by the membership of Senator Glass, of Virginia, on the steering committee, which has charge of making assignments to other committees. Byrd has not indicated what committees he will seek.

3 Newspapermen Appointed As Roosevelt's Secretariat

These men, who have followed the fortunes of Franklin D. Roosevelt for many years, will form his secretariat: Left to right—Stephen T. Early, Louis McHenry Howe and Marvin H. McIntyre.

Howe, McIntyre and Early to Be Contact Agents of New President.

"Louis," "Mac" and "Steve" will form Franklin D. Roosevelt's secretarial triumvirate—as long foreshadowed—the President-elect announced yesterday.

Louis McHenry Howe has been at or near Mr. Roosevelt's elbow, figuratively and physically, for more than a quarter of a century. An astute observer of political affairs and the men that make them, Mr. Howe will be a sort of democratic prime minister to the new President.

Practically a member of the Roosevelt household, Mr. Howe is known and spoken of by the President-elect "Louie." He is 62 years old, 5 feet 7½, and weighs about 100 pounds, is almost enigmatically retiring, is married and has two children, a married daughter and a son in Harvard University. His home is Fall River, Mass., when he is there, but he is nearly always close to Mr. Roosevelt.

Veteran legislative correspondent for the old New York Herald, Mr. Howe joined the Roosevelt colors soon after the now President-elect went to Albany as a member of the State Legislature.

Howe Selecter of Men.

Mr. Howe has been dubbed "chief fact finder" for Mr. Roosevelt and his acuteness in judging men and affairs are believed to have swayed the new Chief Magistrate in his picking of Cabinet and other high officials and in the shaping of his policy pronouncements. That he will continue in this capacity is undoubted by observers. He is said to be the only man who can persuade Mr. Roosevelt to change his mind.

For a good many years Howe has had a bedroom in each of Mr. Roosevelt's homes in New York, in Hyde Park and in the governor's mansion in Albany, and it is reported he will also live in the White House so he can continue his practice of staying close to Mr. Roosevelt night and day. In recent years he has usually spent his week-ends with his family at their home in Fall River.

The careers of Marvin H. McIntyre and Stephen T. Early—both of whom have been thrown in cloes contact with Mr. Roosevelt for more than a score of years—have run quite parallel for many years.

A Kentuckian by birth and recently one of its famed "Colonels" by appointment of Gov. Ruby Laffoon, Mr. McIntyre is 54 years old. A veteran newspaperman, he came to know Mr. Roosevelt when the latter was Assistant Secretary of the Navy in the Wilson administration.

During the World War, Mr. McIntyre was press relations chief at the Navy Department and became closely associated with Mr. Roosevelt. When the latter was the Democratic Vice Presidential candidate in the 1920 campaign, he acted as his secretary and adviser.

McIntyre Contact Man.

Later Mr. McIntyre became connected with a nationally known newsreel organization and served with this enterprise until a few months prior to the last Democratic convention. Then Mr. Roosevelt drafted him as his personal press representative and aid.

Married, Mr. McIntyre has a grown daughter and a son in school here in Washington. His mother and a married sister live at Shelbyville, Ky. He lives here at 3106 Thirty-fourth street northwest.

"Mac" will be Mr. Roosevelt's contact man with members of Congress, of the Cabinet, other members of high officialdom and of American life at large. He will be impresario of appointments and generally supervise the incoming President's routine.

"Steve," youngest of the triumvirate, is 44 years old and has a long seasoning career of newspaper and contact work behind him. He is a descendant of the renowned Confederate cavalry chieftain, Gen. Jubal Early.

Born in Crozet, Va., on the Blue Ridge slopes, Mr. Early's parents brought him to Washington at an early age. He was educated in the public and high schools here and when still in his teens became connected with the United Press.

Early War Veteran.

After several years' service with the latter organization, Mr. Early in 1913 became connected with the Associated Press Bureau here and continued in this position until May 5, 1917, when he joined the colors in the World War. In France he saw considerable service with the 317th Infantry Machine Gun Company, later transferring to Intelligence Service, and still later assisting in editing the Stars and Stripes. He was commended by Gen. Pershing for meritorious service.

Mr. Early resumed his Associated Press connection after the war. It was he who first sent out the stunning flash from a San Francisco hotel that President Harding had died. Several years ago Mr. Early became contact man here for a large newsreel company and has continued in that capacity up to the present time.

Widely known in newspaper and official circles here, Mr. Early will be the President's press relations counsel. He will also deal with newsreel and photographic organizations as well as with the representatives of radio broadcasting companies.

Mr. Early lives at 7704 Morningside place northwest, is married and has three children.

10 BANKS RESTRICT CASH WITHDRAWAL

Depositors Approve Action of Directors to Safeguard Their Funds.

Acting to protect depositors, the District National Bank and nine savings banks yesterday invoked limitation of withdrawal and found "a fine cooperative spirit on the part of depositors" because of bank officials' decision.

The board of directors of the District National Bank at a meeting early yesterday decided to curtail withdrawals, Joshua Evans, jr., the president announced.

"Owing to heavy withdrawals of deposits during the last few days," he said, "and in order to safeguard all of our depositors, the Board of Directors has passed a resolution allowing depositors to withdraw 5 per cent of their balances in this bank at the close of business February 28, 1933, until further notice. All new deposits and new accounts opened March 1, 1933, and thereafter are subject to 100 per cent withdrawal at any time after actual realization of funds by the bank."

New Deposits Exempt.

The stipulation made by the District National Bank as to "actual realization of funds" means that when a check drawn on another bank is offered there for payment, the money will not be forthcoming until the District National Bank has actually received the money from the bank on which the check is drawn.

Mr. Evans laid particular emphasis on the fact that all new deposits and new accounts opened yesterday and thereafter are subject to withdrawal in full at any time, after the funds are realized.

"We have been complimented by our depositors and friends because of our action," Mr. Evans said. "Our depositors have shown a fine, cooperative spirit. There were practically no withdrawals from the savings accounts today." Withdrawals that were made, he said, were merely normal.

The savings banks which have invoked limitation of withdrawals are United States Savings Bank, Chevy Chase Savings Bank, Security Savings & Commercial Bank, Park Savings Bank, Seventh Street Savings Bank, Washington Savings Bank, Anacostia Bank, Mount Vernon Savings Bank and the Northeast Savings Bank.

Approval of Depositors.

Officials of these institutions expressed themselves as pleased with the reaction of depositors, all of whom, they said, voiced general approval of the bank officials' action. Withdrawals at these banks were described as "just normal," after announcement had been made of the withdrawal curtailment.

Some of these banks have invoked the 60-day notice clause, governing withdrawals. Others permit withdrawals up to $100, while for larger amounts notice must be given in advance.

An audit of the assets and liabilities of the Commercial National Bank is in progress under the direction of Robert C. Baldwin, a receiver of the office of the Comptroller of the Currency. Mr. Baldwin took over the receivership from J. L. Bailey, who took charge when the bank closed. Mr. Bailey will assist Mr. Baldwin.

In an early edition of an afternoon newspaper yesterday the name of the Washington Mechanics' Savings Bank was included with those invoking the 60-day clause. This was incorrect. Ezra Gould, president of the bank said business would proceed as usual.

McAdoo Is Visitor To Senate Floor

Renews Old Friendships and Teases Robinson, of Arkansas.

(Associated Press.)

Senator-elect McAdoo, of California, appeared on the floor of the Senate yesterday shortly after his arrival by plane from the West.

Smiling, the former Treasury Secretary walked around, renewing acquaintances and making new friends. Within just a moment after his arrival, McAdoo went in search of Senator Robinson of Arkansas, the Democratic leader. He found Robinson in an anteroom, surrounded by a group of newspaper men, with whom he was talking about the legislative outlook.

"Hello, Joe," greeted the Californian.

"Why, hello, Mac," replied Robinson.

"I just want to see how you get along when you're on the spot," added the lanky McAdoo.

"Swell!" observed a chorus of reporters, while Robinson grinned.

MARYLAND BANKING BILL ACTION TODAY

Holiday Extended as House and Senate Committees Study Measure.

(By Staff Correspondent.)

Annapolis, Md., March 1.—The new Maryland bank bill, on the passage of which awaits the end of the bank holiday, was introduced in the Senate today as Gov. Albert C. Ritchie extended the holiday through tomorrow.

Introduced shortly after noon, the bill was referred to the finance and judicial proceedings committees. These committees met with the ways and means and judiciary committees of the House this afternoon to hear the bill explained by the Governor. Bankers prominent in the State met with the legislators and State officials for a discussion of the new bill, and tonight the discussion was still in progress.

It was indicated that the bill is not expected to pass the Senate before noon tomorrow. The House met tonight and adjourned until 1 p. m. tomorrow, showing that administration leaders do not expect to have the bill through the Senate before that time.

Ritchie Invites Criticism.

After explaining the bill in committee hearing, Gov. Ritchie opened the discussion by asking for criticisms, saying "there's nothing sacrosanct about the bill." The few opponents of the bill in its present form argued that any bank which could pay its depositors in full be allowed to do so, instead of being bound by a limit fixed by the commissioner. One Baltimore banker urged that if the bill is not passed in time to open the banks Saturday the Governor issue a proclamation allowing depositors to draw a few dollars for their week-end marketing.

As presented today, the measure differed somewhat from the tentative draft given to the legislators for study yesterday. The provision that the bank commissioner may limit withdrawals remained unchanged, but the period of his power is limited to six months, with a possibility of a six months' extension. The original draft called for a one-year limit, with one year extension.

Other changes are: Withdrawal limits apply to money paid for taxes only if paid at once; public funds covered by surety bonds are not exempted from the withdrawal limit, although unsecured public deposits are; sureties for personal deposits shall not have to make good faster than the bank releases the deposits, and deposits shall not be offset against loans made to the depositor.

Urges Unlimited Directorates.

A significant measure, in view of the rumored merger of several Baltimore trust companies, was a bill introduced by Senator Lansdale G. Sasscer (Democrat), Prince Georges, floor leader of the Senate, to allow trust companies an unlimited number of directors. Senator Sasscer explained that his bill would make it easier for trust companies to merge.

Senator Sasscer's bill was one of a number of companion bills to the bank measure which were introduced in both the House and Senate. One of these Senate companion bills would provide that mortgages could not be foreclosed for one year on property used as a home. Another would provide that a building and loan association shall not have to pay its shareholders a greater percentage of deposits than it can collect from its borrowing members. The House received a measure making it impossible to throw a business into receivership just because its assets are tied up in a bank.

Aside from these banking measures, only a few general bills were received. In the Senate a resolution calling on the United States Senate to join the World Court was offered while the House received a measure making it illegal to shoot foxes in Frederick County while they are being pursued by hounds and huntsmen. The World Court resolution is similar to one offered in the House yesterday.

Galen T. Tait, collector of internal revenue for Maryland and the District of Columbia, yesterday proposed an amendment to the proposed Maryland emergency banking bill, providing that withdrawals may be made from banks to pay Federal taxes as well as State, county and municipal taxes. The bill as proposed omitted a provision for Federal tax withdrawals. Withdrawals for income tax payments, he suggested, should be limited to the amounts of the quarterly installments.

5 STATES DECLARE BANK MORATORIUM

Five Others Limit Amount of Withdrawals; Additional Ones May Follow.

(Associated Press.)

Kentucky, Tennessee and Alabama yesterday declared moratoriums designed to support banking institutions and protect depositors.

Banking holidays and legislative or executive edicts authorizing restricted withdrawals operated in various States as follows:

Oklahoma, Louisiana, Kentucky, Tennessee and Alabama yesterday declared moratoriums designed to support banking institutions and protect depositors.

Louisiana—Gov. Allen declared a compulsory three-day holiday.

Tennessee—Governor proclaimed a six-day holiday, not mandatory.

Kentucky—Governor declared four-day holiday, also not mandatory.

Alabama—Ten-day suspension of banking business ordered by governor.

Limit on Withdrawals.

Mississippi, Ohio, Indiana, Pennsylvania and Arkansas have in force measures authorizing banks to limit demands on their funds to a small per cent of deposits, in most cases 5 per cent.

Maryland—Banking moratorium extended by gubernatorial proclamation pending enactment of stabilization measures.

Michigan—Banking holiday still in force. Plans for establishment of two Ford-backed banks in Detroit at an impasse as U. S. Senator James Couzens conferred with State bankers.

The Idaho legislature authorized the governor to declare suspensions of all business operations in the State by proclaiming "legal holidays" whenever, in his opinion "extraordinary conditions exist justifying such action."

Olson Issues Decree.

Gov. Olson, of Minnesota, signed an emergency measure giving the State Commissioner of banks power to authorize State banks to suspend business for short periods.

In the States where bank officials were authorized to limit withdrawals of deposits, few institutions responded. In Ohio, however, more than 200 banks were taking advantage of the privilege, but business quickly adjusted itself to the situation.

From Rome came information that Italian bankers, in the face of the unprecedented situation, expressed increased confidence in the stability of the United States banking structure and were proving it by increasing their deposits in this country.

Anacostia Lions Club Solidly Behind Bank

Confidence in the soundness of the Anacostia Bank and the integrity of its officers were expressed last night in a resolution adopted by the Anacostia Lions Club.

Richmond B. Keech, people's counsel, addressed the club, and explained the advantages that should accrue through the consolidation of the traction and gas companies.

Georgia Banking Chief Rejects Holiday Idea

Atlanta, March 1 (A.P.).—R. G. Gormley, State superintendent of banks, said tonight a banking holiday "is not deemed necessary" in Georgia.

"We consider," Gormley said, "Georgia banks to be in as good or better position than banks in any State in this country, and a holiday is not deemed necessary here."

3-Day Holiday Ordered By Louisiana Governor

New Orleans, March 1 (A.P.).—Gov. O. K. Allen tonight issued a proclamation declaring a three-day holiday throughout Louisiana for "all public business including banks and other public enterprises." The three-day holiday begins tomorrow and lasts through Saturday.

The proclamation was accompanied by a statement issued by J. S. Brock, State Bank Commissioner, in which he said the action was made necessary because of bank restrictions in other States.

"Can Never Become Reconciled," Says Green, While Praise Pours In.

(Associated Press.)

United feminism rose to praise Franklin D. Roosevelt yesterday for appointing Frances Perkins to the Cabinet, but the American Federation of Labor, in discordant note, officially declared it can "never become reconciled" to the selection.

Thus, even before inauguration the new President had brought down upon himself bitter criticism from a powerfully organized social group.

The disapproval, however, had been anticipated. The federation always has assumed the Labor Secretary should be a person its leaders regarded as acceptable and has insisted on backing only a man from its own ranks.

President Hoover ran into the same disapproval when he named William N. Doak to the post; in fact he went to the extent of declaring he would brook no dictation of his appointments. Though a union man, Doak was not affiliated with the Federation.

The labor criticism was alone. Women's organizations drafted enthusiastic telegrams and despatched them immediately to the Roosevelt home. Particularly they stressed pleasure that Miss Perkins was chosen on the ground of personal fitness rather than sex.

Retiring Representative Ruth Bryan Owen, former Gov. Nellie Taylor Ross of Wyoming, vice chairman of the Democratic national committee; Emily Newell Blair, former vice chairman, and Mrs. J. Borden Harriman, all widely mentioned as fitted for public posts of responsibility, concurred in the enthusiasm.

William Green, president of the Labor Federation, expressed his organization's disappointment thus:

"Labor has consistently contended that the Department of Labor should be what its name implies and that the Secretary of Labor should be representative of labor, one who understands labor problems, labor's psychology, collective bargaining, industrial relations and one who enjoys the confidence of labor.

Miss Perkins Asks Minimum Pay Act

Pleads for Women in Industry on Her Way to Enter Cabinet.

Albany, N. Y., March 1 (A.P.).—Pleading for minimum wage laws for women, unemployment insurance and a shorter working day and week for everyone, Miss Frances Perkins, chosen as the first woman member of a presidential Cabinet, made her valedictory today as New York State's industrial commissioner. While her final words were still echoing through the big assembly chamber, she ran to catch a train for Washington, there to become Secretary of Labor.

"As heartily as I can," Miss Perkins said, her eyes fixed steadily on labor committee members, "I wish to urge that these measures to set up minimum wage standards for women be enacted into law. The wages of women have slipped downward faster than the wages of men and faster than the cost of living.

"There is a grave danger that the depression will feed on itself and that wages will become so low generally that the market for the manufactured product will disappear. These laws would eliminate to a great extent the present situation in which fair-minded industrialists, willing to pay fair wages, are obliged to compete with those keeping wages as low as they can."

Actor Among 107 Deported.

New York, March 1 (A.P.).—Paul Spruce Clay, 24-year-old English actor, was among 107 deportees who sailed for Europe today aboard the liner President Roosevelt. Clay overstayed his permit by two years and was ordered deported after a hearing before a special board of inquiry in Los Angeles.

Trial Offer At Druggists' On New Mouth-Wash That Saves Half the Usual Costs

It's the year's big news for millions of people who use a mouth-wash—a new antiseptic by makers of Vicks VapoRub—which does everything that any mouth-wash or gargle can and should do—at half the cost!

So that people everywhere could prove for themselves the quality and amazing economy of Vicks Voratone—five million trial bottles were supplied to druggists below cost . . . a 25c value for 10c! The demand, however, has been enormous and many druggists report that their stocks are exhausted. If your own druggist's supply has gone, do not hesitate to get the regular 10-ounce size of Vicks Antiseptic. It is an even bigger bargain.

Furthermore every bottle is sold with this positive guarantee. If, after a week's trial, you are not delighted with the quality and the economy of Vicks Antiseptic, return the unused portion and get your money back.

You can use Vicks Antiseptic in your usual way for all your customary uses . . . to counteract bad breath . . . as a daily mouth-wash or gargle.

In addition, Vicks Antiseptic has this unique advantage over other quality antiseptics. Born in a depression year, it is priced accordingly . . . big 10-ounce bottle . . . a usual 75c value . . . for only 35c.—Adv.

clude $4,000,000 on air mail contracts, $7,633,161 on enlisted men's pay cuts, $3,915,125 by continuing the promotions ban and $150,000 by abolishing the Bureau of Efficiency.

Miscellaneous items embodied in the agreement in part provide:

Payment of 6 per cent interest on money owed by the Government in tax refunds and judgments, instead of the 4 per cent called for in the old economy act. The provision is retroactive.

Abolition of Assay Offices.

Abolition of assay offices in Salt Lake City, Carson City, Boise and other Western cities.

Discard the Senate proposal that all permanent and continuing appropriations be subject to annual review by Congress.

Accept Senate prohibition on additional money for public building sites.

Provide foreign service officers shall not be subject to one month's leave, but may take all they have accumulated.

Permit the Red Cross Building to pipe heat from the Central Heating Plant.

Following the conference agreement, House Appropriations Chairman Joseph W. Byrns called up the report in the House by unanimous consent, waiving lay-over rules. After brief discussion, it was approved by viva voce vote. It was immediately dispatched to the Senate, where Democrats will attempt to get action today.

Meall Voices Objection.

Principal House opposition yesterday was from a group led by Representative James M. Mead (Democrat), New York, chairman of the House Postoffice Committee, who believes the full $19,000,000 air-mail appropriation should be allowed pending the working out of new air-mail schedules.

Representative Mead said a $4,000,000 reduction will mean discontinuance of many small airlines and some of the larger ones.

Representative Will R. Wood (Republican), Indiana, spoke against abolition of the Bureau of Efficiency, and eulogized its past services to the Federal Government.

given him in debate by the Constitution.

Ansell was counsel for the Senate committee which inquired into the election to the Senate of John H. Overton, of Louisiana.

He charged before that committee that Long's political machine controlled that election by widespread irregularities.

Long, later opposing attempts to continue that investigation, launched into a personal denunciation of Ansell in the Senate. He said that this former judge advocate general of the Army was "run out of the Army for fraud."

"Said Plenty More."

He said plenty more. Senator Bailey, of North Carolina, from whose State Ansell hails though he practices law in the Capital, demanded of Long whether he would waive his immunity.

The Congressional Record quotes Long in reply:

"No, sir, I do not claim any privilege from this scoundrel anywhere on earth under God's living sun."

Bailey returned to the point, the Record shows, asking if Long "invites the man accused by him to test the truth of his accusations in the courts?"

"Anywhere on Earth."

"Anywhere on earth," the reply was recorded. A few lines further down, Long continued:

"Anywhere on earth. That is, however, I invite him to sue me in any court of competent jurisdiction, and I will not defend the suit except on the ground that he is a scoundrel and a thief and a rascal and a crook and has been determined to be such by an investigating committee of Congress."

Bailey said: "I am content with the Senator's statement that he waives all privileges and immunity."

Long was quoted in reply:

"Yes sir, I invite that rascal to sue me in a court of competent jurisdiction, and I will tell you now that there is not any more danger of him suing me than there is of my being made Pope of Rome, and I am a Baptist.

Punitive Damages Asked.

"No sir, he is not going back to Louisiana to sue anybody. He can sue me in a Federal court, but he is not going down there to sue anybody."

Informed of Long's limited interpretation of his waiver today, Burr Tracy Ansell, son of the general who is acting as his father's counsel, said the case would be pushed here regardless. He added:

"It would be ridiculous for us to bring such a suit against Long down there (Louisiana)."

The suit claimed $250,000 actual damages and a like amount as punitive damages for bringing Ansell into "public slander, infamy and disgrace."

Bride in Stirring Appeal For Faith in D. C. Banks

A plea for faith in Washington banks was made by Corporation Counsel William W. Bride last night in an address on the "Prosperity Hour" over Station WOL.

"Let us forget the word 'depression' and relegate it to the category of obsolete words," he said. "Let us recreate the word 'prosperity' and give to it an even better and more glorious signification than it had before.

"I say all this even though I have personally a large deposit in a local bank affected by the present restrictions. I have no fear whatever but that very soon the situation will be cleared and you and I and all of us will be satisfied that not only are our banks sound but that our present fears are without substantial foundation.

"I have too much faith in our local banks and in our local community and in the nation at large to let myself be seriously disturbed about it. A good stiff backbone and faith in our institutions will bring us through fine and clear."

Roosevelt's Inaugural Speech to Be Recorded

When Franklin D. Roosevelt's inaugural address is broadcast from more than 250 radio stations throughout the United States Saturday, his words will be preserved for posterity by electrical transcription, it was announced by Percy L. Deutsch, president of the World Broadcasting System, yesterday.

Mr. Roosevelt's having granted permission for the transcription of his message to the American people will result in the first step in the founding of a national library of the words of famous men, so that these speeches may be heard hundreds of years from now.

Although this will be the first instance of the transcribing of an inaugural address, the public addresses of President Hoover and President Coolidge previously have been preserved.

aware of the run of events as perhaps no other man outside of official life.

Mr. Roosevelt today completed the preliminary draft of his inaugural address. It is now about twelve minutes in length. He wants to cut it to eight minutes.

The frequent round of meetings he and Senator Hull, of Tennessee, the new Secretary of State, have been holding with the representatives of foreign countries is believed to forecast an early world economic conference.

It now seems that war debts relief will be definitely laid aside until Mr. Roosevelt sees what the other nations are ready to do in the way of correcting world economic conditions.

On Monday, two days after his inauguration, the next President goes into conference with the 48 State governors on ways of slashing Government costs and taxes.

Others received at the Roosevelt home here tonight included Jesse I. Straus, of New York, mentioned as a probability for the Diplomatic Corps either at Paris or Havana, and Josephus Daniels, Raleigh, N. C., publisher, who was Secretary of the Navy when Roosevelt was Assistant.

CHICAGO CHEF HELD FOR ZANGARA NOTE

Mental Experts Study Man Who Denies Authorship of Coded Letter.

Chicago, March 1 (A.P.).—A code letter, said by Secret Service operatives to have been written to Joseph Zangara, the Italian who wounded Mayor Anton Cermak, congratulating him for "good work," resulted in observation of Ludwig Rahmer, 40, a chef, at a psychopathic hospital here tonight.

Rahmer denied he had written the letter, which was intercepted at Miami by authorities. Capt. Thomas J. Callahan, local Secret Service chief, said handwriting similar to that of the Zangara letter was found in another note discovered in Rahmer's pocket. Callahan, who left for Washington to attend the inauguration, said he was taking this other letter with him.

It was understood that Rahmer admitted knowing Zangara. He denied, however, having seen him lately.

Authorities said the letter intercepted at Miami bore Rahmer's return address and also contained a card for Zangara's reply. The letter, authorities said, also made reference to an address of President Hoover at Palo Alto, Calif.

Dr. V. G. Urse, resident physician at the hospital, said a preliminary examination indicated Rahmer was unbalanced mentally. The man, he said, was under the delusion an attempt was being made at the hospital to poison him, and he refused all food.

At the hospital Rahmer said he did not know Zangara.

"I don't know anything about a letter," he said. "I don't know what it is all about."

Toby Cook, of Georgia, Arrives for Inaugural

(Associated Press.)

The first guest personally invited by President-elect Roosevelt to attend his inaugural—7-year-old Toby Cook, of Georgia—arrived yesterday astride his pony, Pet.

He is the youngest guest invited for the ceremonies, and when he rode his pony up before the inaugural stand on the Capitol Plaza to be photographed he was easily the most weary. Welcomed by Senator Russell of his home State, the boy said he was tired from his ride of more than 800 miles and five pounds lighter than when he began the trek at Chula, Ga., three weeks ago.

McAdoo Flies In For Inauguration

Rhode Island Governor and Wife Buy Out Planes for Voyage Here.

William G. McAdoo, senator-elect from California, arrived at Washington-Hoover Airport yesterday to attend the inauguration. The former Secretary of the Treasury flew from California in his own fast ship. He was accompanied by his daughter, Ellen, two secretaries and J. F. T. O'Connor, a former law partner.

At the same time Eastern Air Transport officials at the airport announced that Gov. T. F. Green, of Rhode Island, has bought all the seats in one of Eastern Air Transport's airliners to fly himself and his staff here for the inauguration. Another plane has been bought out by Mrs. Green to transport herself and a party made up of wives of the staff members, it was understood.

The party of 20 will leave Newark Airport tomorrow morning. The women will fly at 11:40 and the governor and his staff one hour later. On the return trip both planes will leave Washington Airport at 1 p. m. Sunday for New York.

Maiden Talk

Baby Girl Who Mimicked House Member to See Inaugural Again.

Her maiden speech in Congress last year the subject of Nation-wide comment in the press, 4-year-old Mary Lou Gilley, of Cranford, N. J., who was born on the last inauguration day, will attend the ceremonies Saturday with her parents.

Taken on a visit to the House of Representatives, little Mary Lou watched with startled eyes as a member of that body launched into a speech. The child soon caught the trick of his gesticulation and, much to the amusement of an admiring group of visitors and legislators, began to mimic him.

The House by-play was noted by a Post reporter and the story was picked up by newspapers all over the country.

WHITNEY DEFENDS EXCHANGE SYSTEM

Senators Hear of $10,000 National City Loan to New York Official.

(Associated Press.)

An affable but firm "No" was the answer of Richard Whitney, president of the New York Stock Exchange, to suggestions yesterday for changing the way the huge market place functions.

His views were expressed to the Senate Banking Committee after it had received testimony that a $10,000 loan had gone from National City Co. funds to John Ramsey, general manager of the Port of New York authority.

Ramsey was said to have borrowed the money after the National City Co. had participated in underwriting a $66,000,000 Port of New York authority bond issue in March, 1931. A statement on his behalf, however, insisted Ramsey thought it came from Edward F. Barertt, vice president of the National City Bank, and an old friend, as a personal loan.

Unperturbed by sharp queries from Ferdinand Pecora, committee counsel, and Senator Brookhart (Republican), Iowa, Whitney, tall and powerfully built, said he saw no reason to vary from the present system of listing stocks for sale on the exchange, although he agreed "we have to accept the oath of those promoting it as to its distribution."

Admits Values Inflated.

Brookhart led the questioning from syndicate and pool operations in the past to questions on "how shall we get out of the depression." At one point, he told the exchange head: "don't you know that these price maintenance operations (through syndicates) are in violation of the anti-trust laws."

"I am no lawyer, senator, smiled Whitney.

"Weren't values of securities listed on the exchange inflated in the boom years of 1927, 1928 and 1929?" Pecora asked.

"Yes," Whitney said.

"Well, don't you think it was the responsibility of exchange officials to issue a warning to that effect? Don't you think it was your responsibility?"

"I do not," Whitney said. "We are a market place, not a place for the evaluation of securities. Besides, I think if I had issued any warning in those years you mention that I would have been laughed at."

$10,000 Loan in Cash.

The course of the $10,000 loan was traced through H. C. Sylvester, vice president of the National City Co., and Barrett.

Sylvester said "frankly" that in all those years with the company he recalled "no similar cash loan," and he also agreed that the company's books failed to show how the item was used. It was charged on the ledger to syndicate expense.

Barrett said Ramsey was an "old friend" and that he wanted to help him out of a "jam."

"You knew that the City Company, bank affiliate, had underwritten a part of the port authority bond issue?"

"Yes," Barrett replied. He insisted, however, that it was simply a loan, but said he had "no explanation" for the failure to issue a check on the City Company instead of getting the cash from Sylvester. He said he had not pressed for payment of principal or interest because he felt Ramsey's financial condition was still bad.

"There was competition for the handling of these bonds?" Pecora inquired.

"Yes, sir," Barrett answered. He said he got some information about the situation from Ramsey, but emphasized that it had nothing to do with prices, and said the manager of the port had no voice in the sale of the securities.

Soviet Reenters Food Business as Retailer

Moscow, March 1 (A.P.).—The Soviet government tonight forecast its reentrance into high-priced business operations in food commodities by announcing that it is opening shops in which meat and bread would be sold to the people at prices prevailing in the open market.

Ostensibly the move is designed to compete with "speculators" in the private markets, and at the same time to increase the supply of bread and meat available to a large section of the populace, which has no regular source of supply.

Dr. William I. Ogus announced Dr. J. Ben Robinson, dean of the University of Maryland Dental School, a scheduled speaker, was unable to be present because of illness. Dr. Bear pointed out the importance of educating the undergraduate in economics as well as dentistry. Dr. Pearce said the dentist of today must adjust himself to meet changing conditions, should play a larger part in welfare work and employ leisure hours in building knowledge and physique.

Dr. Carl J. Mess, chairman of the committee cooperating with the Bureau of Fisheries on the use of fish flour, made a final report and asked that his committee be discharged, which was done with a vote of thanks.

2 JEHOL DEFENSES FALL TO JAPANESE

Manchukuo banners were flying in Chihfeng when the invaders entered.

The Japanese asserted that the Sixteenth and Ninteenth brigades of Marshal Chang Hsiao-Liang's troops had been smashed by the Japanese column operating in southeastern Jehol, which saw considerable action at Shamoashaw and Peichangyingtze. These units of the north China war lord's army probably will not be able to put up effective defense again, the Japanese declared.

China Protests Embargo.

Nanking, China, March 1 (A.P.).—The Chinese government announced today that it was making representations to Great Britain concerning the recently ordered British arms embargo against both China and Japan.

Announcement of the government's action was made after an official spokesman had asserted that the effect of the embargo would be to weaken China, as only a small quantity of arms are produced in this country.

The government spokesman asserted that the embargo should be limited to Japan.

The Federal Diary

By GEORGE D. RILEY

FOR twenty years the Department of Labor welfare organization has functioned, scattered sunshine among its membership and once yearly has gathered to take inventory of the twelve-month achievements and for a few hours to try a hand at bridge or sway to the rhythm of good music.

For the twentieth time Labor Department employes will hold their anniversary celebration March 7, this year at the Mayflower, we learn from Robert C. Starr, appointment clerk, who has been the chairman since the organization came into existence. Mr. Starr seems about to attain his majority of 21 years at the helm of the welfare body.

We are reminded of the words of Mr. Starr from some months back, when he told us of the value of the welfare association:

"You know, when you meet a man or woman in everyday business routine there is a certain frigidity that must exist. But a social organization breaks down that ice and throughout the year, when you meet this one or that one, you can not help recalling the pleasant hours you spent at the annual social."

THIS year there will be dancing until 1 a. m. There'll be cards, too.

But Uncle Sam just won't keep hands off. The Government will take its toll in form of the usual 10 per cent tax at the gate, despite the fact that the promoters seek only to break even.

It is expected that the incoming and outgoing department officials will attend.

Success of the affair is assured by this committee:

Robert C. Starr, appointment clerk, chairman; Mrs. B. E. Henderson, secretary; E. J. Cunningham, treasurer; H. J. Fitzgerald, Mrs. Helen Sexton, Bureau of Labor Statistics; L. L. Nettleton, Mrs. Anna M. Smith, Bureau of Naturalization; Mrs. Mary E. Weber, Mrs. Mary D. Pendergrast, Women's Bureau; John Crown, Miss Eva W. Burton, Bureau of Immigration; Miss Paris F. Keeper, Mrs. Grace H. Barrett, Children's Bureau; Willard S. Haynie, Employment Service; J. R. Dodson, U. S. Housing Corporation.

presented him with a desk set and purse of gold.

Just a note to tell you that my friends and I are much pleased with the write-up you gave me in your column this morning. They say also that my picture is very good, and all are surprised how well the winter garden looks. One lady said that she could detect each plant as it looked in the jar before it was photographed. Thanking you again, sincerely,

FLOY BOYER, Federal Trade Commissioner.

It snows a bit and then the sun shines. Getting ready for March 4.

And aren't the barber shops already decorated for the quadrennial Day of Days With their red, white and blue poles and signs.

And about the weather: The guess of W. D. Mayers, Federal Trade Commissioner, is just as good as any other—"It may rain, and then again it may not. There's no telling."

Shouldn't those who March Fourth march first for a little practice?

A PUBLICATION full of substantial information is just off the press—"Job Load Analysis in National Forest Administration." It describes the aims of analysis and the methods by which the study of job loads is to be made and gives adequate samples to indicate how the shaping of results is accomplished.

Any organization that is not averse to taking itself apart, but is really keen to see what, if anything, is wrong, and how it can improve itself, is surely a live one, and a desirable one to be associated with. In this respect the Forest Service must rank up among the best of industrial outfits.

Fifteen hundred copies of this bulletin were printed for the service, to be used for administrative purposes. A supply was printed for sale and a small supply for other distribution. Five hundred copies have already been sold and a small supply is still available for purchase from the Superintendent of Documents, Government Printing Office.

RAINEY'S SPEAKER SELECTION FORECAST AT TONIGHT'S CAUCUS

er and majority floor leader, developments in the last few days have eliminated Representative Bankhead as floor leader, assuming that Mr. Rainey is elected Speaker. Representative Bankhead has continued his first statement that he was for McDuffie for Speaker from first until last.

Those who have read Mr. McDuffie out of the Speakership race are counting without their host. Mr. McDuffie's managers last night continued to predict election of their candidate. They saw no reason, they said, to cut down their conservative estimate that Mr. McDuffie would have 123 votes on the first ballot.

It is not likely that, if Representative Rainey is nominated for Speaker, the Rainey supporters will then back Representative Bankhead. It is more than likely that they will support some other Southerner.

There were reports and rumors of all sorts of deals about the lobbies of the House yesterday, but nothing definite could be traced down, except that it is probable that several persons will get a big shock when the man who is to nominate Representative Rainey rises to do it.

McDuffie "Roosevelt Man."

Representative McDuffie's campaign managers undoubtedly have been counting on the only casually denied reports that Representative McDuffie was regarded as the fair-haired boy of the incoming administration for Speaker.

Although the incoming administration has denied taking any hand in the speakership fight, the denial is not taken seriously on Capitol Hill.

The claims of Representative Rainey to election on the first ballot were scouted by the managers of Representative McDuffie and other candidates. They all insisted that their men still were in the race.

Trimble Due for Ax.

It appears certain that South Trimble, clerk of the House, who has felt he had an unshakable hold on the Democratic membership, is going to get the sack. Unless there is an upset Mr. Trimble is going to be fired and a Western lame-duck member of the House is going to get his job.

The newly elected Democrats held a meeting in the caucus room in the House Office Building last night. They didn't do much. But the mere fact that Representative-elect Will Rogers, of Oklahoma, and Representative-elect Thomas O'Malley, of Wisconsin, succeeded in getting together so many of the newly elected Democrats was a matter for thought.

The gathering of Democrats-elect to the next House did nothing of any importance beyond making an impression about their determination that the Government should not be left in the incompetent hands in which it has been. About 60 attended the conference and a third of those walked out when a row was precipitated about adjournment. Nonetheless the caucus made itself felt.

ILLINOIS DRY REPEAL SENT TO GOVERNOR

Springfield House Votes Out State Enforcement by 120-to-25 Ballot.

Springfield, Ill., March 1 (A.P.).—Illinois' State prohibition law and enforcement legislation were repealed, in effect, today by the lower house of the Legislature. Already passed by the State Senate, the repealer bills now go to Gov. Henry Horner for the signature which he has announced he would affix.

First to be repealed was the enforcement legislation, known as the State search and seizure law, giving powers to local authorities and to State courts. The vote was 120 to 25.

The representatives then repealed, by 115 to 30, the State prohibition law passed in 1921, two years after the search and seizure measure was ratified.

Emerson Rejected It.

Repeal of the search and seizure law was voted by a previous session of the Legislature, but Louis L. Emerson, then governor, refused to sign it.

Immediately after repealing the State legislation, the representatives began an effort to set up the machinery for Illinois to act on the congressional resolution to repeal the eighteenth amendment.

A bill calling for selection of 25 delegates at large to be elected June 5 and to meet in a ratification convention in Springfield July 10 was introduced.

It was advanced to second reading immediately, without reference to a committee.

Indiana Revamps Dry Laws.

Indianapolis, March 1 (A.P.).—Indiana today revamped its laws to permit it to take advantage of the repeal of the eighteenth amendment, if that is voted by the States, or of possible modification of the Volstead act by Congress.

Gov. Paul V. McNutt signed two bills passed by the Legislature, one repealing the State prohibition enforcement act and the other legalizing the manufacture and sale of beer.

Repeal of the Wright law leaves prohibition enforcement in Indiana in the hands of Federal officials, with such assistance as may be given by local police.

WALLACE PROMISES FARMER TO DO BEST

New Agriculture Secretary Discussse Cabinet Job, in Reader Adieu.

Des Moines, Iowa, March 1 (A.P.).—Henry A. Wallace, named as Secretary of Agriculture in the Cabinet of President-elect Roosevelt, bade a temporary farewell to readers of his farm magazine with the declaration of his belief that, after twelve years something worth while will be done for agriculture.

Launching into a discussion of his new job Wallace said:

"In going to Washington in this new administration I hope to attack the problems of this day with as much courage and vigor as my father brought to the same task twelve years ago. While the situation of the world and of agriculture is far more desperate today than it was then, I have an advantage he did not have. I have the privilege of working under a chief who is definitely progressive, entirely sympathetic toward agriculture, and completely determined to use every means at his command to restore farm buying power."

He compared the agricultural situation to a forest fire in saying: "Of course, every sensible man must realize that the new administration will labor under a terrific handicap. It is fairly easy to put out a fire before it gets much of a start. To put it out after wind and time and neglect have fanned it into a flaming rage is a task of much greater difficulty.

"That is the task of the new administration. It must make up for twelve years of lost time."

Pure Water Produced Heavier Than Ordinary

Berkeley, Calif., March 1 (A.P.).—Pure water having a specific gravity of "one plus," or a weight 10 per cent heavier than ordinary water, has been produced by Prof. Gilbert N. Lewis, dean of the College of Chemistry of the University of California.

The new kind of water is "indistinguishable from the ordinary fluid by any known chemical test." Like the ordinary water it is composed of one atom of oxygen and two atoms of hydrogen, and therefore remains "H2O" in chemistry symbols, but the atoms of hydrogen, of which it is made, are twice as heavy as ordinary atoms of hydrogen.

Former Senator Elkins and a daughter, Mrs. Katherine Elkins Hitt, the two children who survive her, were with Mrs. Elkins when she died.

The body was sent to West Virginia last night. Funeral services will be held tomorrow at the Davis Memorial Church. Burial will be in the family plot in Maplewood Cemetery, near Elkins.

COLBY CALLS SOVIET ENEMY OF AMERICA

Former Leader of Cabinet Sees No New Reasons for Recognition.

New York, March 1 (A.P.).—Bainbridge Colby, former Secretary of State, who officially stated the American attitude in refusing to recognize Soviet Russia, declared today that nothing had happened since then to justify a change in policy.

"Our refusal was predicated upon the fact that Russia was an enemy state," he said.

"Despite denials and the concealments and disguises employed by as subtle a propaganda as the world has ever seen, this enmity continues to be the foundation of Soviet foreign policy."

His statement was made in a letter to Matthew Woll, vice president of the American Federation of Labor, who inquired last week if there were any "new facts" calling for a departure from the United States policy on Soviet recognition.

Colby said the policy was a Democratic policy, although three Republican administrations had adopted it as their own, and that "any reexamination of it by a Democratic administration will certainly not proceed unmindfully of this fact."

"The original refusal of the United States to recognize Russia had nothing to do with the acknowledgment or repudiation of its debt to this country," he said.

"An Enemy State."

"It had nothing to do with the type of government Russia saw fit to adopt, its communism, or other theories of economic and social relations.

"Any desire to influence the internal administration of Russia or to express an opinion, either favorable or adverse, upon her form of government, was expressly disclaimed by the United States.

"It was on an entirely different ground that American recognition was denied. Our refusal was predicated upon the fact that Russia was an enemy state."

Declaring the enmity continued to be the foundation of Soviet policy, Colby added: "Its government is organically linked with and controlled by the Communist Internationale, whose central purpose is the fomenting of revolution in every non-Bolshevist state.

Quotes Elihu Root.

"If this is the fact—and no responsible Russian dares disaffirm it—the tests established for recognition under normal conditions have no application.

"It is entirely beside the point that the government of Russia may be, as the propagandists for recognition maintain, a de facto government, able to impose its authority and maintain order, although by cruel repression, within its territorial confines.

"To concede recognition as a friend to a nation that protests she is not a friend, but on the contrary is dedicated to the overthrow of our institutions and sworn to conspire against our peace and security, is unthinkable—'a solemn lie,' to use the words of Secretary of State Elihu Root."

The District court was informed that the law had not been obeyed and asked to see that it was enforced. Attorney Matthew O'Brien appeared for Charles H. Butler, 1427 Montague street northwest, who filed the suit.

LINDBERGH CLEWS BARED BY WITNESS

Man on Trial for Abduction Says Law Spoiled His Solution of Case.

Clearfield, Pa., March 1 (A.P.).—John J. Devine, Johnstown private detective, who worked "under cover" for several months on the Lindbergh kidnaping case, testified in his trial for abduction today that he could have solved the mystery "within two weeks" had not the law stepped in and upset his plans.

Devine and seven others are on trial charged with abducting Garrett Schenck, Hopewell, N. J., fish peddler, and holding him prisoner in a mountain shack for nearly three months.

The detective said his solution of the crime would have involved the fishmonger.

Schenck was released last September 3 after Mayor Eddie McCloskey of Johnstown learned he was held. He claimed he was lured to the mountain shack on a pretext and quizzed about the Lindbergh kidnaping and murder. He steadily has maintained that he knows nothing about it.

The detective said Schenck roomed with a man named Pat Lane in a house less than a mile from Col. Lindbergh's estate.

"A private road connected the Lane house with Col. Lindbergh's home," he said. "Bloodhounds once followed a trail from the colonel's place to the woodpile at the Lane home."

Devine related he read that Schenck had said he saw an automobile parked near the spot where the Lindbergh baby's body was found, six hours before the slain child was discovered.

He said he talked to Schenck, and that he seemed afraid and said he would like to get out of town but had no money. Devine then told how he took the fishmonger to the cabin in the Pennsylvania mountains.

He insisted Schenck left willingly and that he was not held prisoner. He had many opportunities to escape if he wanted to, the detective said.

THE EXTRA SESSION.

President-elect Roosevelt will arrive in Washington today, to be inaugurated on Saturday. He becomes a prisoner in the White House, bound to hard labor for the next four years. Mr. Hoover, after exhausting toil, is released. All fair-minded citizens without regard to party appreciate his devotion to the public welfare and wish him all happiness.

An extraordinary outburst of enthusiasm will mark the incoming of President Roosevelt. The inauguration ceremonies of 1933 are likely to be long remembered for the outpouring of citizens and their boisterous acclaim of the new President. This demonstration will not be due solely to the release of pent-up Democratic feelings, but will be the means of signifying the people's ardent hope for better times. The crowds, by sheer numbers and animation, will shout down their forebodings and drown their doubts in cheers.

President Roosevelt will be faced with many urgent problems and adverse conditions, but he will also begin his labors with many advantages. He is supported by all the people; he has selected a Cabinet of varied abilities in which he has confidence; he is the titular and actual head of a party that controls Congress by strong majorities; and he tackles his duties with fresh vigor.

Why should not these advantages be utilized immediately by calling Congress in extra session on March 10 or 15, instead of waiting for six weeks? The country is intensely eager for action. Business of all kinds waits in suspense. Hopes are kept in abeyance to fears, pending some assurance that the new administration and the new Congress will hold fast to sound money and take bold measures to meet the unprecedented situation in banking, agriculture, and trade.

President Roosevelt is believed to have reached definite conclusions concerning the major measures that are to be proposed to Congress. But even if he has not perfected his program in detail, he would inspire fresh courage throughout the country if, on March 4, he should call Congress to meet this month. The economic situation overshadows all others in importance. The details of legislation must be shaped after Congress meets, in any event. The sooner the forces of the Government are exercised by the new administration and new Congress, the sooner the people may expect some relief from the pressure that is disintegrating public confidence.

Senators belonging to the 73d Congress are already here. Many members of the new House are in Washington, and all could be on hand by March 10 or 15. Why should they not be called into session immediately, thus saving a month or six weeks?

IRON HAND IN GERMANY.

If half the reports, official and otherwise, emanating from Berlin are accurate, Germany has narrowly escaped a violent radical outbreak that might have plunged the country into civil strife. The firing of the Reichstag building was said to have been the signal for an uprising against the constituted authorities, which was only averted by the prompt action of the police in arresting scores of Communist and Socialist leaders. Following close upon this step President von Hindenberg issued a drastic decree suspending civil rights and the establishment of virtual martial law throughout the Reich.

The emergency decree, based on Article 48 of the Weimar constitution, suspends the fundamental rights of citizens, including habeas corpus, sanctity of the home, secrecy of mail, telephone and telegraph, right of assembly, free speech, right of association, and sanctity of private property. In addition the government is given authority under the decree to intervene in state affairs and compel action against Communists. The death penalty is decreed for crimes of treason, incendiarism, poisoning of public water or food supplies, for assaults on railways, and for causing explosions.

The executive order makes Hitler a dictator in fact. It is expected that the proscription of the Communist party will follow, though this action will probably be delayed until after the elections on Sunday. Wholesale suppression of the radical press throughout Germany has already been effected, the most sweeping step in this direction ever enforced. In presenting the case to the cabinet Captain Goering called the firing of the chamber and the revolt plans of the Communists "the most monstrous act of terrorism yet committed by Bolshevism in Germany." In addition to incendiarism it was reported that there were plans for poisonings, kidnaping of wives and children of officials, and plundering of stores, all of which was to have started Tuesday night. Just what effect these latest developments will have on the elections is not known. It is even possible that Communist votes will not be tallied, but whether the Hitlerites secure a majority in the Reichstag or not, present plans indicate that there will be no immediate change in the present government.

BANKING OUTLOOK IMPROVES.

Bank depositors throughout the country may breathe easier because of the widespread measures that are being taken to protect and conserve their interests. A few days ago there was some fear of a general banking panic, but now it seems evident that the States are determined to deal with the problem in a bold manner. In no locality has the situation gone beyond control. Banks that are in a precarious condition are not to be allowed to destroy confidence in the whole banking structure.

Depositors throughout the country face two alternatives. Either they can leave their funds on deposit and give banks a chance to work out their problems, or by demanding immediate payment they can precipitate emergency action that may tie up banking facilities for a limited period. Every State government is on guard against wholesale withdrawals. Depositors must face the fact that bank runs will not be permitted.

Some States, including Pennsylvania, have taken precautions against bank runs without declaring holidays. The legislature at Harrisburg authorized banks to limit withdrawals under supervision of the State banking department. New deposits are to be segregated from old deposits, with no restrictions upon withdrawal of the former. In this way hoarding can be effectively checked and a banking crisis can be avoided. The stronger institutions will not need this safeguard. But all banks may take advantage of it on short notice. Even national banks may participate in such arrangements with the consent of the Comptroller of the Currency.

Emergency precautions are taken by one State after another. Governors and legislative leaders are convinced that they should prepare for an emergency, even though it may not strike their States. It is much better to avert a crisis than to correct it. If the State legislatures, most of which are now in session, will move to protect banks that are laden with slow assets without paralyzing the banking and credit system, much of the incentive to hoarding will be removed, and confidence in the banks will be revived.

Some banks in Washington have taken steps to protect themselves against abnormal withdrawals of deposits. The fact that most of the District's banks are not affected by this situation testifies to the great strength of the local institutions. Where a high degree of liquidity is maintained, holidays and withdrawal limits are not necessary.

All indications now point to solution of the country's banking difficulties without a breakdown of confidence. Unsound institutions will, of course, have to be liquidated. When that process has been completed a high degree of confidence can be restored, because the banks will then have been tested by the most adverse circumstances.

UPKEEP OF SCHOOLS.

It is an obscure interest indeed for which some champion does not demand, at the first sign of trouble in these difficult days, that the Government hasten to its assistance with Federal funds. The Reconstruction Finance Corporation is looked upon as an inexhaustible source of wealth that is free for the asking. Too many enterprises and charities are encroaching upon these funds when their deficits should be met by the local communities that they serve or their expenditures trimmed to conform to generally reduced incomes.

The latest call for R. F. C. funds or special taxes was heard at the National Educational Association meeting in Minneapolis. Prof. Strayer of Columbia announced that there are States which can not finance their educational programs. The United States Commissioner of Education, William J. Cooper, also declared that "unless the poorer farming districts of this country have aid soon our rural school system will collapse." Mr. Cooper suggested a Federal sales tax in all the States as the means of aiding the schools.

American pioneers who faced much more trying conditions would have been amazed at the temerity of those who demand aid of the national Government for the primary education of their children. In the midst of the general misconception of individual and State responsibilities it is refreshing to find one experienced educator with reasonable views regarding educational necessities in hard times. Dr. Henry S. Pritchett, president emeritus of the Carnegie Endowment for the Advancement of Teaching, has issued a statement in which he says: "Along with the overproduction in agriculture and in manufacture, there has been a comparative overproduction in the products of the tax-supported systems of education. The inflation has resulted in a multiplication of subjects taught in costly and expensive buildings and a vast increase in the number kept in school beyond the point where school was fruitful."

Schools have been among the last to suffer from appropriation cuts due to the depression, but in many communities they can not be maintained in former luxury. Some of the frills can be cut off, at least temporarily. As Dr. Pritchett says, any one who imagines that public education can escape the retrenchment that confronts every other public activity is deceiving himself. All over the land the great body of patriotic and self-sacrificing teachers have taken their cuts in salary and in notable instances have continued at their posts without pay. If further reductions must be made it should be accomplished through simpler programs. The Federal Treasury can not be saddled with the expense of the public school system.

ECONOMY JOKER ELIMINATED.

Senate conferees were forced to yield to the House on the so-called economy provisions of the Treasury-Postoffice appropriation bill. No other course was practicable. On its face the proposal to force departments to save 5 per cent of the fund allowed them by Congress was absurd. The Senate did not wish to take responsibility for dismissal of a large number of Government workers, yet it would have forced department heads to take such action. In some instances the Bratton amendment would have crippled the Government service, but it would not have reduced the inexcusable expenditures which administrative agencies are forced to make under the law.

Since the House has approved the conference report, the Senate will have to accept it or allow this vital supply bill to fail. Indications are that the Senate will reverse its former action. That body has become famous for economy fiascos. Having purged its conscience by inserting intolerable provisions in an appropriation measure, it can now forget about economy until the next session.

Another senatorial adventure in absurdity came to naught when the conferees decided to allow $15,000,000 for the airmail next year. In a moment of aberration the Senate had cut off the airmail without a cent. But common sense prevailed in the conference, and the airmail will doubtless be continued on a reduced basis.

It is unfortunate that the House felt compelled to agree to the Senate amendment abolishing the Bureau of Efficiency in return for the Senate's recession on the Bratton amendment. This is one of the few bureaus that are saving the Government money. But it has no political power behind it.

There was no controversy over the reorganization powers granted to Mr. Roosevelt. Nearly every one is in accord with the belief that the Government should be reorganized. Congress has demonstrated its inability to act. Broad executive authority to act is the only alternative.

Gov. Ruby Laffoon, of Kentucky, lived up to his reputation for originality by proclaiming a series of holidays for "thanksgiving" while Kentucky banks straighten out their affairs.

Lame ducks will form on 13½ Street and march to Buzzards Point, where scows for Salt River will be in waiting.

Now if Congress could only get the beer bill through, its record for doing nothing would be complete.

Yes, it's a great day for politicians when they can ferret out a few crooked bankers.

The fiddlin' on Capitol Hill grows fainter and fainter.

AGES OF SENATORS

From the New York Sun.

When Bennett C. Clark was sworn in as Senator from Missouri the average age of members of the Senate was reduced a minor fraction of a year, but the Senate is still dominated by men in the age group between 55 and 65. Champ Clark's son is 42; he becomes one of a group of fourteen senators under 50. The junior senator from Georgia, Richard B. Russell, jr., is the baby of the Senate at 35. Others in this group are: Senator La Follette, of Wisconsin, 38; Senator Long, of Louisiana, 39; Senator Nye, of North Dakota, 40; Senator Tydings, of Maryland, 42; Senator Barbour, of New Jersey and the two senators from New Mexico, Bronson Cutting and Sam G. Bratton, each 44; Senator Black, of Alabama, 47; Senator Dill, of Washington; Senator Vandenberg, of Michigan, and Senator Reynolds, of North Carolina, each 48, and Senator Steiwer, of Oregon, 49.

This constitutes the young guard of the Senate, if an arbitrary limit could be fixed at 50. Such a limit appears ridiculous, however, when the ages of some senators commonly identified as leaders of the insurgent group are considered. Senator Norris is 71; Senator Johnson is 66; Senator Borah is 67; Senator Brookhart, whose term expires next month, is 64. Youth is not always insurgent; age is not always conservative.

Though such youngsters as La Follette and Long and Nye have been active and conspicuous in the Senate, the ordinary course of preferment and the usual period of political apprenticeship make it inevitable that the Senate should be controlled and led by men of maturer years. To Theodore F. Shuey, chief reporter of the Senate, who on February 2 observed his eighty-eighth birthday and who has passed his sixty-fifth year in harness, the dominant members of the Senate must appear as mere youngsters.

JUST FOLKS

YOUTH.

If violets in spring you'd grow
This fact about them you should know:
Violets like shady spots and low.

But if you think they ought to run
The hazard of the blazing sun;
Their lives will speedily be done.

Thus if you'd keep the young folks near
Think not too much of yester-year
Nor hold dead customs now too dear.

The youth we lived lies far away,
Little we did, who now are gray,
Would suit youth's purposes today.

A different age is this they face,
Their feet must dance at swifter pace
To keep the progress of the race.

As violets dwell in forests deep,
So youth to its own age must keep
However much the graybeards weep.

To Offer Eggs for Sale Is to Make an Assertion That They Are Edible.

By ROBERT QUILLEN

A YOUNG woman celebrity recently succeeded in having her marriage annulled because of her husband's failure to keep certain promises made before the marriage.

The world now concedes that marriage is something more than the purchase of a mistress or the mating of two animals.

It is a contract between two civilized human beings possessed of equal rights.

The terms of the contract are assumed and tacit, but none the less morally binding.

The man sees in the woman certain qualities that make her desirable; the woman sees in the man certain qualities that make him desirable. And these qualities are terms of the contract.

Each party hopes by marriage to improve his condition—to gain security, social position or increase of happiness. Perhaps each hopes to change the other. And each may be disappointed when the passing years have wrought their usual havoc.

But one party's hopes or expectations do not bind the other party to a contract, and a contract is not violated by either party's subjection to the normal processes of nature.

The binding and all-important agreement is that each party shall be and remain, in so far as is humanly possible, as he represents himself to be.

England once had a law penalizing any woman who used powders, paints, false hair or other camouflage to entrap a man and obligate him to support her.

Modern fashions and the frankness of make-up, together with man's increased sophistication, make safeguards of this kind unnecessary.

But still it is conceded by common law and common sense that any contract obtained by fraud is void and worthless.

If a man asks for a job as chauffeur, his application itself is a declaration of his ability to drive a car. If he can not, the one who hired him was tricked and therefore is under no obligation.

If either party to a marriage contract conceals hereditary disease, natural or habitual brutality, vulgarity or discourtesy, or any other abnormal and shameful trait, is not the agreement obtained by fraud and deceit?

A partnership agreement to fly the Pacific together has no force if one party to it conceals his inability to fly.

POLITICAL COMMENT

Must Take the Offensive.

Brooklyn Eagle.

In a real sense, this is the last week of an era. It cannot be otherwise. The change that takes place in Washington is bound to be epoch making. America will, on Saturday, not only inaugurate a new President. It will inaugurate a new order. No one can tell what lies ahead, but we do know that there will be marked betterment or there will be an insistent demand for still more changes. We will not go backward.

We look to Washington, not to try to dig deeper trenches or lay more defensive barbed wire, but to take the offensive. If this be done and the word goes out, the cumulative effect of the change in strategy will spread a contagion of confidence. We are suffering most, just now, from lack of confidence. Long defensives destroy morale. We have been too long on the defensive. We have had too much lame-duck generalship. There has been too much lame-duck psychology. But spring is on the way. The sun is growing stronger and hope, like sap, rises when winter has done its worst.

Wets Get Busy.

Topeka Capital.

While seven years are given for ratification of the liquor amendment, the wets lost no time in getting their resolution through Congress while State Legislatures were in session in forty-one States. Wyoming's Legislature anticipated the resolution in arranging for a repeal convention. Arizona will have an election of convention delegates in April and hold the convention in May. Other States with wet leanings are making haste with their arrangements. In a great part of the country there will be little time for debate or discussion. The wet idea is that people have made up their minds, and it will be closure with a vengeance. It is the first time a constitutional amendment has been submitted to State conventions.

Senate Changes.

Los Angeles Times.

Senator Swanson, as ranking Democrat of the Naval Affairs Committee, is perhaps a natural selection for the post of Secretary of the Navy. His appointment, and consequent removal from the Senate, will be valuable politically to the administration by opening up one more major committee chairmanship in the Senate, but at the same time contains an element of danger in that it takes from the upper house one more stable and dependable party war horse. As matters stand, the complexion of the next Senate will differ a good deal from that of the present one. However, Virginia has some other good senatorial timber, such as ex-Gov. Byrd, who would make an acceptable colleague to the veteran Carter Glass.

Patronage Squabble.

Philadelphia Public Ledger.

The scheme of Mr. Farley, Democratic national chairman and about-to-be Postmaster General, for distributing Federal patronage among the faithful, is proving far from acceptable to Southern members of Congress who had expected to handle this matter themselves after the old-established custom. Instead, Mr. Farley proposes to put it in the hands of the original Roosevelt men, who set up the pre-convention organizations for the successful Democratic candidate and are now looking for their reward.

Ratification.

Indianapolis Star.

A "perfect 36" once referred to the femine form divine, but it means something else again to the nation's wets.

Suitable.

Rochester Democrat and Chronicle.

A scientist says he has discovered the germ that causes gray hair, but hasn't named it yet. He might call it "income tax."

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Pneumatic Tube Mail Service Connecting With Airports to Speed Up Delivery.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Pneumatic torpedoes, which travel over 150,000 miles daily in New York's underground mail chute, have an efficiency record of 99.96 per cent. A comparative study of surface and underground systems shows that for every delayed letter which goes by the pneumatic tubes, 3,915 letters were delayed by motor trucks.

New York's 54 miles of tubing is the only adequate system of the kind in any city. Four-fifths of New York's mail is carried by the tube in the city where one-tenth of the Nation's mail originates.

Air mail efficiency is frequently materially reduced by the delay it encounters as soon as it reaches the ground. The mail trucks which carry it to and from the airports must conform to the strangling conditions of city traffic. Engineering surveys found it practicable to make underground connections between airports and city postoffices. In consequence of these findings such equipment will probably be installed in Chicago, Boston, Philadelphia and St. Louis, while New York is considering a new link in her tubes which will carry the mail to her three airports.

It has been further suggested that by standardizing the equipment at the various centers the torpedoes, when received at the airport, could be loaded on the plane without unpacking. On arrival at their destination the torpedoes could be placed immediately in the pneumatic tube and shot directly to the postoffice. Such a system would make it possible for a letter deposited up to midnight in New York to reach Chicago the following morning. Aside from the advantage of speed, the tubes offer valuable protection to mail, for up to the present there has never been an underground mail robbery.

'Mid Inauguration Hubbub and Hurrah Don't Forget How Pa and Ma Share Honors With the Girls and Boys.

To the Editor of the Post—Sir: In our enjoyment of inauguration day, with its tramp of troops and thrills of martial music, its civilian marchers and patriotic throngs, it seems to me that we should note with special interest the future citizens amid the inaugural host, the animated boys and girls, of whom it is our boast that, if they so desire, they may to highest office-holding rank aspire.

In fact, with future Presidents the Avenue is lined, and should you be inclined to doubt that this is so, ask Ma. As flags, fifes, drums, brass bands, and marchers pass, 'tis a good guess that of all those who on the sidelines surge and press—girl, woman, boy or man—Ma in the enjoyment of her girls and boys enjoys the long procession as none other can.

And so far Pa, while he with tranquil eye and manly pride surveys the human tide, his dignified outside appearance does not fool the girls and boys and Ma. And soon the caracoling cadence of a tune keys him to concert pitch, so that he shouts, "Hurrah!" while the day's optimistic aspect which the land in brotherhood unites upon his lips provokes a smile to see the folks enjoy the sights. So in the dumps let's cease to brood, but hope and pray that the inaugural mood voiced in these casual rhymes may be prophetic of good times. Heaven bless the inaugural girls and boys! Hip, hip, hurrah! Three cheers for Ma! Three cheers for Pa!

TAKOMA PARK SAFE YIELDS YEGGS $2,700

Heirlooms Also Stolen When Bliss Electrical School Is Burglarized.

Yeggs yesterday broke into the office of the Bliss Electrical School at North Takoma Park, Md., blew open the safe and left with approximately $2,700 in cash and two watches 75 years old, which had belonged to the parents of the president, Prof. Louis D. Bliss.

The safebreaking was perpetrated by professionals, Montgomery County police believe. The yeggs wore gloves and drilled the safe with an electric drill. Evidences were found on the floor in broken bits and in a connection plug not belonging to the school found in a nearby socket.

The robbery was discovered shortly before 7 a. m. by a janitor. He called Prof. Bliss, who, after a cursory inspection, telephoned to Chief of Police Alvie A. Moxley at Montgomery County police headquarters in Rockville. Chief Moxley and Detective Theodore Vollten, of the county bureau of identification, hurried to the scene.

The glass in the front door of the administration building had been broken to gain entrance and a door to the office in which the safe was located was jimmied. Papers from the safe littered the floor of the office. Broken drill bits with splashes of oil from the oil used to cool the bits were spread around the safe. The entire method of procedure and careful preparation apparent indicated professionals.

Montgomery County and Washington police were asked to be on the lookout for suspicious characters.

BOWTON STEPS OUT AS SCHOOL DIRECTOR

Action of Alexandria Man Comes as Surprise to Officials.

THE WASHINGTON POST BUREAU.
907 Prince St., Alexandria, Va.
Phone Alexandria 523.

The resignation of R. C. Bowton, superintendent of Alexandria schools, was submitted to the School Board last night and accepted, to become effective at the end of the current school term, June 30.

The resignation came as a complete surprise to the board. He came to Alexandria in 1923, having occupied a similar position in Clifton Forge. In 1932 several mass meetings of patrons of the Alexandria schools were held, and at one time a public meeting was held to discuss a controversy which had arisen between Bowton and Col. Clarence Deems, jr., then professor of military science and tactics in the Alexandria High School. The School Board, which was then headed by Urban S. Lambert, upheld Bowton. Dr. John T. Ashton, member of the board, who later succeeded Dr. Lambert as chairman, produced correspondence to show that the dissensions between Bowton and Col. Deems existed, and charged that Bowton was opposed to military training in the high schools, which Bowton denied. Col. Deems had been removed from his position as head of the military department, but as a result of this public meeting he was reinstated.

At the beginning of the present scholastic year the detail of Col. Deems was revoked by the War Department, due to the lack of appropriations for the employment of Army officers in such positions. The resignation of Bowton brings to a close a somewhat lengthy lack of harmony in the Alexandria schools, which many of the patrons have considered detracted from their efficiency.

A successor to Bowton must be selected prior to May 1, 1933, and it is understood a list of persons eligible for the position will be submitted to the School Board by the State superintendent of education, from which a choice may be made.

Idle Army Demands Aid at Harrisburg

Legislature Told Many Are Starving in Cities of Pennsylvania.

Harrisburg, Pa., March 1 (A.P.).—Mingling cheers and jeers, an "army of unemployed" shouted its demand for immediate relief to the Legislature today, then left the Capitol, threatening to return. Singing and waving banners, some 500 of the 1,000 or more "marchers" moved into the hall of the House. There a half dozen speakers, amid alternate boos and cheers, told the Legislature it must appropriate $100,000,000 for relief.

Spokesmen said many are starving in the industrial centers of the State and that the Commonwealth must act immediately. At the end of the hour allotted the speakers, Lieut. Gov. Edward C. Shannon announced the meeting at a close.

The crowds in the galleries and the rear of the House fell silent as the House turned to other business.

ROADS OF FAIRFAX SLATED FOR REPAIR

50 Miles of Secondary Unit to Get Top Treatment in Six Months.

Approximately 50 miles of secondary roads in Fairfax County, Va., are to be surface treated soon by the State highway department, E. L. Micou, resident State highway engineer, announced yesterday before the meeting of the county board of supervisors.

Micou and J. M. Hagan, of the highway commission, met with the supervisors in accordance with the Byrd road law under which the maintenance of county roads was taken over by the State. Many delegations appeared, advocating improvements on certain roads in the county. Most of the groups were in favor of improving roads used by school busses.

Micou stated that during the present fiscal year $145,684.27 had been allocated for secondary roads in Fairfax County and that 58 per cent of the year had passed and there was a balance of $110,997 to be spent. Of this amount $50,000 had been set aside as the cost of surfacing certain roads. This would leave $60,997 for actual road work and to take care of the regular patrol repair work. He stated his department had been slow in getting organized, but that during the next six months a great improvement will be seen in the county roads.

He listed the following roads as those to be surface treated with asphalt and gravel: Centerville to Chantilly, 4 miles; Pender to Wyncoppa Shop, on the Pender Floris road, 3.6 miles; Oakton to Ward Hunters, 3 miles; Lewinsville road to Falls Church, 3.8 miles; Kirbey's Farm to Lewinsville road, ½ mile; the Dunn Loring, Merrifield and Masonville road, 7 miles; Woodburn road from Gallows road, 2.4 miles; old Fort road, 1.4 miles; Edsell road, 1.2 miles; Clifton Station to Makley's store, 4 miles; Makley's store to Butt's Cross Roads, 2.3 miles; from Sydenstricker to Garfield, 3.7 miles; Springfield via Accotink to Pohick, 11 miles; old Telegraph road from Springfield road to Potters Hill, 2.2 miles; from Franconia School via Potters Hill to Accotink, 5.1 miles, and the Gunston Hall road for 3.8 miles south.

After hearing recommendations on road improvements, Commonwealth's Attorney Wilson M. Farr spoke. He said the most important question was whether the funds of the highway department will allow any extensive improvements in the county beyond maintenance of existing roads and that the primary concern was the improvement of the roads along the school bus route. In his opinion, unless the State makes a larger appropriation for road work, there will be a decline in the condition of roads in the county.

Superintendent of Schools Is Indorsed for Renomination.

ARLINGTON COUNTY,
BUREAU OF THE POST.
Tel. Clar. 500. Clarendon, Va.

By resolution, the board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce of Arlington County yesterday unanimously favored the reappointment of Fletcher Kemp as superintendent of Arlington County schools.

Speaking at the meeting, County Manager Roy S. Braden gave a comprehensive outline of the tentative budget now before the county board for its consideration. Later members of the board discussed various phases of the proposed budget at length, but finding it impossible to complete its study, President Walter U. Varney recessed the board until a special meeting on March 9.

The board adopted amendments to the constitution and by-laws to permit associate memberships to the chamber.

President Varney announced he will name the chairmen to the various standing committees at the March 9 meeting.

The Parent-Teacher Association of the Robert E. Lee School meeting yesterday in the school auditorium went on record as unanimously favoring the reappointment of Fletcher Kemp as county school superintendent. Mrs. S. C. Cox, president of the State Congress of Parent-Teacher Associations, spoke on the value of a parent-teacher association in the community.

The Arlington County school board will hold a public meeting at the courthouse tomorrow night for the purpose of appointing a superintendent for four years beginning July 1, according to an announcement by the chairman, John M. Stewart.

The monthly meeting of the Matthew Fontaine Maury Parent-Teacher Association will be held at the school in Clarendon tonight at 8 o'clock. Mrs. Ruby G. Simpson, member of the county school board, will speak.

The Edward Douglas White Council, No. 2473, Knights of Columbus, will hold its monthly meeting tonight in the new club house Garrison road at Clarendon.

Plans for participation in the inaugural parade were made last night at a meeting of the Arlington County Women's Democratic Club. It was announced that the club members participating would leave the club headquarters at Clarendon at 11 o'clock Saturday, in a parlor coach.

County Commissioner of Revenue Harry K. Green announced yesterday that his office at the courthouse will be open tomorrow evening from 7 to 9:30 o'clock to assist taxpayers in making their returns, including Federal, for the year 1933.

Fairfax to Debate Tax Rates April 5

Supervisors for Probe of Telephone and Electric Charges in Virginia.

The Board of Supervisors of Fairfax County, Va., yesterday voted to hold a public hearing on the tentative budget for the next fiscal year on April 5 in the courthouse at Fairfax. Citizens will be given an opportunity to express themselves at that time. The budget as finally approved will determine tax assessments next fall. It is estimated that the general county scale will be reduced from 45 to 25 cents.

A resolution was adopted indorsing an investigation of public utility rates in Virginia. It was the opinion of the board that the rates now charged for telephone and electric service are exhorbitant. The resolution urged the State Corporation Commission to revalue the public utilities holdings.

Particular attention was called to the telephone rates in northern Virginia. It was stated that northern Virginia was zoned so that the use of a telephone is practically restricted to the local exchange and toll charges have to be paid to get various county points or Alexandria.

POSSE CATCHES MAN AFTER SWAMP HUNT

Fugitive Wanted in Triple Shooting Subdued by Tear Gas Bomb.

Centerville, Md., March 1 (A.P.).—Harry Branch, Negro, wanted for wounding three persons and shooting at several others, was captured early today in a house about 10 miles from the swamp near Roberts, Md., where he was believed to have been hiding.

Driven from the house by a tear gas bomb, Branch surrendered to police without resistance and was brought to the Queen Anne County Jail here under heavy guard.

National Guardsmen, ordered out last night by Gov. Albert C. Ritchie, and armed citizens had started to search the wooded swampland at dawn today when a report came to the officials Branch had been seen entering a farm house near where he was captured.

The fugitive was accused of wounding Frank Brower, former first baseman on the Washington (American League) Team and member of the posse; Lillian Gilts, a Negro woman, and James Thawley, a Guardsman. Brower had eight shots in the back of his neck and shoulders, while Thawley was wounded slightly in the foot.

The condition of the woman was described as serious. She was wounded Sunday, and Branch has been hunted since. A posse late yesterday drove him into the swamp, where it exchanged several shots with him.

How to Be Beautiful

By ELSIE PIERCE

THE most common of facial blemishes are blackheads and eruptions and my reason for speaking of both in one breath is the fact that the first is the forerunner of the second.

The oily type of skin is usually more prone to blackheads than the dry. The reason for this is that the oily surface attracts dust particles. These settle, mix with the secretion, harden and there you are—a blackhead. And every blackhead if allowed to become infected may result in a pimple.

The very first and most important step is cleanliness, inner and outer, and observance of the health rules so well known and so often overlooked by all of us. Exercise and further stimulation through bathing and cold showers is especially important.

For the oily skin, soap and water is recommended as the cleansing medium. Liquid green soap is particularly beneficial in the case of blackheads. A complexion soap or immaculately clean wash cloth and warm water may be used. Thorough rinsing with warm water should be the next step. Then if the little masses remain stubborn and hardened, a warm oil may be applied to soften them. A comedon extractor may then be used to squeeze out the blackheads. Or, the two forefingers or middle fingers covered with clean gauze or linen or a cleansing tissue may gently squeeze out the offending blackheads. It is important to avoid bruising or breaking the skin.

What Today Means

By MARY BLAKE

"PISCES."

IF March 2 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 10 a. m. to 11:15 a. m., from 2:30 p. m. to 3:45 p. m. and from 5 p. m. to 6 p. m. The danger periods are from 8:30 a. m. to 9:30 a. m. and from 7 p. m. to 8 p. m.

Influences operating on this March 2 will appear to be against you. You will be crossed in everything you attempt to do. If you have any innovations in your business or in your home that you had planned to put in effect, it would seem to be well to hold them in abeyance for a time. Failure would almost be assured on this date.

The child born on this March 2 will have a clever and likable nature. He should be able to write lucidly and easily. Music will mean a great deal to him and he should be taught to play some instrument at an early age. He will be indifferent to the attentions of his parents and will not seek their guidance. He will be possessed of more common sense and balance than he will ever be given credit for.

If March 2 is the date of your birth, you have the ability to visualize great schemes and plans to inaugurate broad policies, but you are totally lacking in the matter of making realities of your schemes and plans or in specifically applying your policies to the conditions at hand. You get on well with only a few persons and more often than not your work has to be carried on through a third person who is close to you and understands your peculiarities.

Successful people born on March 2: Samuel Untermyer, lawyer.
DeWitt Clinton, statesman.
Sam Houston, statesman and soldier.
Carl Schurz, publicist.
John A. McCall, insurance expert.
William C. Carl, organist.

Interpreting the Mode

By DARE

THREE color notes are really important for the new occasion—the new blue-purple, or purple-blue, as you wish, the new neutrals, gray and beige and grege—and the red to cerese, to reddish-pink range.

There are other smart colors, of course. And black is rather surprisingly used in quantities for both daytime and evening wear, and for some very chic beach wear.

The gray, beige, and grege I have already mentioned to you—some say beige leads in smartness, but I say that gray will ever lead in distinction and chic, if not in actual becomingness.

But the combinations of reds and pinks are as startling as they are dangerous, and as new as they are unusual. Pity the woman without the most acute color sense in this combination! Yet the keynote to safety in combining pinks and reds is the same as for the harmonious combination of shades of gray—all the reds and pinks you combine have to be the same tone. Then can you experiment safely with shades!

To be more explicit, red is tinged with either yellow, making it show a yellowish or brickish or orangy tone, or it is tinct with blue, which ranges it on the purplish and maroon tones. Steer away from trying to combine any reds and pinks of different tones; that is, no orangy or yellowish reds with bluish reds. And don't be deceived by the wide, wide range of different shades in these tones, either. Shades of the same tones of red and pink are exactly what you can combine—but do leave any more technical blending to experts, if you would be safe.

• • • •

Combining two or three remnants of different colors to make chic and so inexpensive pyjamas is another story again—especially when the leaflets which tell you how to assemble these different pyjama designs suggest color combination as well! This week's leaflet is a continuation of last week's, and the two of them give you new pyjamas for every possible need. Imagine, if you can, a pyjama which is ample everywhere, even too wide at the hem of the trousers, if anything—that can be made out of less than three yards of material—and this be two remnants! Then the last one is the pyjama from bandana handkerchiefs—and when I tell you that there are only two cuts of the scissors—the whole rest of the pyjama being straight and uncut handkerchiefs, then you will know how simple this would be to make. Send your stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Dare Department of The Washington Post for this leaflet, and as a special favor, you may have last week's, too, if you didn't send for it. This will complete your pyjama repertoire, you may just be sure!

How to Keep Well

By DR. W. A. EVANS

FROSTING OF WINDOWS.

THE furniture often goes bad in winter time in any section where house heating is necessary. It gets rickety and creaky and falls to pieces.

When air is heated its thirst increases. Thirst is a basic urge in all life processes, more basic than hunger or the urge to reproduce, or even that of preservation of life. So universally is this recognized that the wets mendaciously claim that the regulation of alcohol consumption runs counter to a basic urge in that it is an attempt to regulate by law a man's thirst.

Such an argument against the use of another drug, opium, would be equally valid. It would be far more valid as an argument against laws for the suppression of red light districts and the component parts thereof.

If air is so thirsty that it will take the water from a chair, why will it not cause a man to shed a leg here, an arm there, and an ear yonder?

Man gets water from many sources in addition to his food and drink, and, besides, he burns hydrogen, adds oxygen, and water results. He can give up no small part of water to the air around him and, in that way, keep his members. Nevertheless, being dried out during most of the hours of the day and night is not good for the constitution. The ideal degree of saturation of air at 70 degrees is 70 per cent. If we could have air that moist we could sit in comfort when the room temperature was 65 degrees.

However, until we build our houses with far better insulation than is now the custom, a humidity of 70 is not feasible. The walls would sweat enough to wash off the paper or streak the calcimine. With present wall-building methods, a humidity of 40 per cent is about as much as the paper will stand. In a rough way, when there is 14 to 15 degrees difference between the temperature as registered on wet and dry bulb thermometers when the heat is on the humidity is 40 or very near it.

Air of this humidity will cause the skin to be somewhat dry and harsh, but not enough to be uncomfortable to most persons. The skin of old persons will be too dry and may need some goose grease, and here and there some younger person will complain of winter itch, but the average person will live in such air in a fair state of comfort.

SO THIS IS RENO

Letters of a Capital Society Divorcee to Her Mother

Dearest Mother: Today I have spent nearly all day in court listening to the Drew case. The present Mrs. Drew is young and beautiful and was engaged by the first Mrs. Drew as trained nurse for her child. Now she is married to Mr. Drew and has the child, who doesn't know its own mother. Mr. Drew is apparently crazy about the child and cried on the witness stand this morning. He has the lawyer I think I will have and another who ranks about as high, and his ex-wife has seven lawyers, all here, from New York, California and Reno. It is a very spectacular case. The present Mrs. Drew testified (wearing a jade green helmet and jade drop earrings) that the reason she had spirited the child away was because his own mother was trying to kidnap him and that her previous visits to him had to be stopped as it made him nervous to see her. Mr. Drew testified that the influence of the present wife over the child was the most "beautiful thing he had ever seen" and the most profitable part of the child's life. They read letters written by the ex-wife to him after his second marriage signed "with love" and begging always to be allowed to see the child without "being locked in or under espionage." She always had to go to the house of the second wife to see the child, and finally they stopped letting her in. The mother is going to testify on Thursday. They are both fighting for entire custody and will not compromise.

So it will probably be in the courts for weeks. I talked to the former wife and she said that not one word her husband had testified for the last fifteen minutes was true. She did not explain, however, her telegram which one of his lawyers produced, sent to him right after their divorce had been granted, and he had been given the custody of the child (she was to be allowed to see him daily), saying "what a relief now that I am free and can sail for Europe." In the meantime the child calls the second wife "mother" and thinks she is his mother. It is all very dramatic. The judge and lawyers out here must be pretty thoroughly disillusioned with marriage by now.

Culbertson on Bridge

PHOTOGRAPHING THE HAND.

I HAVE already written one article upon the theory of plastic valuation in determining the correct declaration of a hand at Contract Bridge. Plastic valuation is the method used by experts, who, after mastering the principles underlying honor-tricks and distributional tricks, find it unnecessary to make a minute count of their hands, but, by a series of logical inferences, almost unerringly arrive at the correct declaration.

There are three successive steps in plastic valuation:

First: A player counts the losers and winners of each suit in his own hand.

Second: A player visualizes or paints a mental picture of his partner's hand on the basis of minimum strength and distribution, as shown by his partner's bids. If his partner has not bid, the mental picture is based on assumed averages.

Third: A player eliminates within each suit some of the originally assumed losers in his hand by adding the values assumed by partner's bids.

He thus creates a new and composite picture, made up from the known or assumed elements of strength in the two hands. The total of sure and probable losers of this new mental picture of the combined hands determines the selection of the contract, as well as the margin of safety. During these processes, which are actually mental photographs, the hand undergoes further transformation under the influence of values shown or denied by opponents.

Another comparison of plastic valuation would be with the mental processes of a scientist or a great detective. Your partner's calls (whether they are bids or passes) are clues that help you to mentally picture his hand as a whole. If your partner has previously passed or has not yet bid, you then mathematically assume a certain reasonable share of losers in his hand, and these you add, for the time being, to your own hand. This assumption, like the hypothesis of a scientist, may be instantly invalidated when partner's or opponents' bids disclose some new information.

One of the most important questions to decide in this method of hand valuation is whether a player should count his winners or his losers. Some determine their losers by counting their winners and deducting them from 13. Others deduct the losers and thus determine the winners. The same result is attained by either method, but from the standpoint of facility in mental processes, there is a tremendous difference. It is a fundamental law of the human mind that it naturally tends to take short cuts, rebelling against difficult thought processes. As a rule, winners should be counted at notrump bids and losers should be counted at trump bids, particularly when the hand is of unbalanced distribution. Whenever the bidding of partner and opponents enables the player to place suit lengths and key cards, counting the losers will prove to be the shortest and easiest method of valuing the hand.

Spades A Q 2
Hearts A 8 7 3
Diamonds K 9 4
Clubs A 10 9

counting the losers is a long and difficult process. The losers are indefinite, while the winners, in the shape of Aces, Kings and Queens, stand out in bold relief. However, in valuing this hand—

Spades K 10 9 8 2
Hearts 7
Diamonds A K 10 7 6
Clubs 6 2

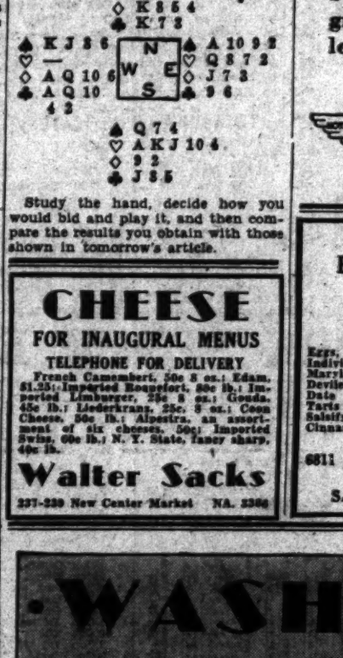
in support of partner's spade bid, to count the total winners rather than the losers is putting the cart before the horse. The losers are few, quite definite and easier to count. The trump suit probably has no losers. The diamond suit, at most, has one loser, and one of the three losers in hearts and clubs will certainly be taken care of by an Ace or King-Queen in either suit, the minimum outside strength that would justify the partner in opening with a bid of one spade. Thus, with three losers at the most, the combined hands are worth 10 tricks. Hence, a Raise to four spades is correct.

It might be noted that the same result on this hand would be obtained by the use of the distributional count. Using this method, the hand shows 7 playing-tricks in support of partner's bid, which justifies a Raise to four spades and, if necessary, as a defensive measure, a Raise to five.

TOMORROW'S HAND.

The bidding and play of the hand printed below will be discussed tomorrow:

West, Dealer.
Neither side vulnerable.



Study the hand, decide how you would bid and play it, and then compare the results you obtain with those shown in tomorrow's article.

The Meanderer

Finds Food Markets Ready to Feed Inaugural Visitors—Dinner Suggestions From Turkey to Cheese.

Telephone questions on The Meanderer's column to The Washington Post, National 4205, Extension 19; or address The Meanderer, The Washington Post, inclosing self-addressed, stamped envelope for reply.

Turkeys for inaugural day dinners are to be nearly as much the rule as turkeys for Christmas. The Meanderer learns of two carloads of turkeys coming into Washington from North Dakota. The turkeys are highly recommended by a wholesale poultry dealer, who is taking orders for them. Chain stores will also offer turkeys to customers. Two markets operated by women from farms of nearby Maryland and Virginia, open Friday all day and Saturday until 1 o'clock, have turkeys dressed, ready for the oven, for the busy hostesses of inaugural week.

Spring lamb, fattened on milk in nearby Maryland, rivals turkey as the meat choice. This baby lamb is the suggestion of a marketer who has served many tables for important Washington occasions. Another meat marketer who has served Washington well with cold meats has two sausages for cold suppers he highly recommends—truffle-gooseliver sausage and a highly seasoned meat known as tea cervelat.

Green tomato chutney, or East Indian chutney (a 10-ounce bottle), will add a much relished bit to the special dinner. It sells in the corner of a big market for 35 cents.

On this, the second day of Lent, sea foods on the local market make a comprehensive list, including oysters, shad, pompano, blue fish, scallops, fresh halibut, crab flake, salmon, trout, white perch and sword fish. The Meanderer obtained this list in well known fish stands in a market on K street.

Sweet peas, crisp, with stems measuring 15 inches, sell for 75 cents a bunch in a flower shop within the market on K street. The bunches contain 30 to 40 sweet peas, and are a delightful choice for the dinner party's decorations, either in one color or in the delightful mixture of colors sweet peas offer. The purple and orchid shades in these bunches are appealing. The hurried hostess or unhurried hostess can do no better than phone her flower order to this reliable florist.

From the original and capable manger of a big tea room in one of Washington's best-known stores, comes the suggestion for using halves of brandied fruits in the manner of salads. Several kinds of brandied fruits are sold in the bake shop adjoining this store's tea room.

As she walked about examining the wares of a vegetable and fruit dealer in the big market on K street, the Meanderer made this comprehensive list for Washington housewives, with the reminder that this dealer makes deliveries all over Washington: Fresh pineapples, hot house grapes, lima beans, green onions, radishes, sprouts, chicory, watercress, parsley, romaine, Boston head lettuce, rhubarb, fresh peas, turnips, rutabaga, Hubbard squash, celery root, cranberries, asparagus, alligator pears, plums, peaches, strawberries and nectarines.

Lemon tarts at 5 cents each, in a farm-to-home market; Wellesley fudge cake, famous in a local tea room and bake shop; orange cake, from the same tea room-bake shop; fresh strawberry cake from two popular downtown bakeries in the shopping districts, and assorted cup cakes from the same bakeries, are all excellent dessert suggestions for your guest meals.

Swiss gruyere, the process cheese made smooth and soft from the coarser Swiss cheese, sells in one cheese marketer's place in attractive six and twelve portion packages, foil wrapped. The twelve portion boxes sell for 40 cents.

A Misses' ROMNEY

Important because it highlights beige, both in the fabric and in the extremely fine beige fox scarf collar. The collar may be worn close about your throat, or thrown back on your shoulders in a grand luxurious manner. The sleeves have a graceful fullness to the elbow, then tighten into a smooth line to the wrist.

Stocks Continue Advances In Two Rallies Led by Rails

Gain of 1.1 Points Recorded as Trading Dwindles to 789,641 Shares.

New York, March 1 (A.P.).—Stocks made it two rallies in a row today, edging upward toward the close after early unsettlement and finishing with an average gain that virtually duplicated yesterday's.

With rails again leading, it looked as though passage of the bankruptcy bill by the House had given sentiment a flip that was sufficient to offset further banking restrictions and evidence of trade curtailments incident thereto.

During the afternoon Wall street heard that Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Woodin were to confer on general financial affairs, and speculative quarters seemed disposed to adopt a more cheerful attitude toward immediate prospects.

Covering shorts found supplies of stocks more plentiful than yesterday, with the result that extreme gains were moderate. Volume, at 789,641 shares, was the smallest in a week.

Improvement of a point or slightly more was the rule for such stocks as American Telephone, Santa Fe, Case, General Foods, Goodyear, American Tobacco "B," New York Central and Du Pont. Major fractions were added to the prices of American Can, National Biscuit, Allied Chemical, Union Carbide, Southern Pacific, Lackawanna, Harvester, Texas Corporation and Borden, among others. W. T. Grant rallied on authorization of a regular 25-cent dividend, while American Water Works firmed in response to news that its directors had voted a similar payment, unchanged from three months ago. Lehman Corporation, which also got a "regular" dividend of 60 cents, rose a point.

Declines	134	207

Stocks.

Two rallies, led by rails, sent stocks 1.1 points higher. Shorts found buying easier and the volume of trading dwindled to 789,641 shares.

Bonds.

Efforts of secondary bonds to rally were defeated by high grade issues which fell victims to heavy institutional selling. United States loans suffered again. The average loss was 1-10 of a point. Sales totaled $12,759,000.

Curb.

Quotations teetered uncertainly for a time, but the closing tone was firm. Gains and losses were mixed. Trading turned quiet and sales declined to 130,000 shares.

Wheat.

Losses in winter wheat crops and abandonment of large acreage caused prices to rise. Corn and oats followed wheat in the upturn. May wheat sold at 47½ to 47 5-8 cents.

Cotton.

Prices advanced about 50 cents per bale on sympathy with a firmer stock market. General quotations were up 9 to 12 points. May contracts sold at 6.08. Liverpool reported a small market, with traders waiting on clarification of conditions abroad.

FOREIGN MARKETS.

(Associated Press.)

London—Better Wall street advices helped sentiment on the stock exchange with fresh operations improving transatlantic issues, industrials and oil shares. Covering operations caused an advance in gold mining issues and Japanese and German bonds. Gilt-edged securities were dull and the market closed quiet.

Paris—The bourse improved on the Parliament vote of confidence in the present government and strengthening Wall street reports with the opening in good trading calm and the market closed firmer.

Berlin—Prices on the boerse reacted favorably to President Von Hindenburg's emergency decrees. The closing was firmer.

BOND RALLY HALTED BY CONTINUED SALES

High-Grade Issues Suffer in Liquidation; Dealing, $12,759,000.

New York, March 1 (A.P.).—While various secondary loans displayed mild rallying tendencies in the bond market today, the heaviness of a number of high-grade issues gave the trading picture a rather spotty appearance.

The volume of transactions was almost the same as that of yesterday, sales totaling $12,759,000 par value. The average for sixty domestic corporate bonds lost one-tenth of a point.

Further liquidation of United States Government obligations, most of which showed net losses ranging from one-half point to around a point, was a depressing influence. The softness of the Federals, along with so-called "gilt-edge" corporate maturities, was generally attributed to institutional selling due to outlying banking problems, stiffening money rates and cloudy prospects connected with forthcoming government financing.

The Treasury announced an offering of $75,000,000 in 93-day bills to be dated March 6, and further borrowing this month is expected to bring the national debt well over the $21,000,000,000 mark.

Gains and losses in the industrials and rails were about evenly divided, with sharp drops of around 8 points in some sparsely traded issues indicating the extreme thinness of some portions of the market.

German Government 5½ rallied for a gain of ½ a point, but other loans of that country were generally losers to the extent of 1 to 5 or more points.

Steel Ingot Production Reduced to 17 Per Cent

New York, March 1 (A.P.).—Steel ingot production has fallen to 17 per cent of capacity this week, compared with 19 per cent and 20 per cent, respectively, in the two preceding weeks, Iron Age estimated today.

"At Cleveland," the magazine said, "where automobile tonnage is an important factor, the sharpest drop has occurred, from 35 per cent last week to 23 per cent.

Brazil Shifts Coffee Control; Destruction to Be Continued

Rio Janeiro, March 1 (A.P.).—After destroying 1,800,000,000 pounds of coffee in two years, Brazil has decreed out of existence its cooperative national coffee council and placed control directly under the treasury department.

With the destruction program proceeding under the new government bureau, it won't be long until Brazil will have burned and dumped into the sea enough coffee to provide a pound for every one of the earth's 2,000,000,000 inhabitants.

Destruction to the end of January had passed 13,500,000 sacks of 132 pounds each, yet the surplus problem is as bad as ever.

The new federal bureau finds the problem acute, although the current crop is somewhat under average. Overproduction continues enormous, the depression has reduced world consumption, and the export tax burden enables competitors to meet Brazilian prices.

The bureau has announced that it intends to follow the council policies of purchasing stocks from growers, controlling exports, and attempting to increase foreign sales by direct agreements with various governments. The elimination and taxation programs will be adhered to.

Brazil had a surplus of about 27,000,000 sacks at the start of the current crop year last June. The present crop is estimated at about 16,000,000 sacks, compared with 19,000,000 for 1931-32. That makes a total of more than 40,000,000 sacks confronting the coffee administration. A good year's exports would be 15,000,000 sacks.

Missouri Pacific Fails To Pay on Certificates

New York, March 1 (A.P.).—The Missouri Pacific Railroad Co. today failed to meet the principal installment of $586,000 on its equipment trust certificates.

The road met its March 1 bond interest, but the recent advance from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation did not provide for the equipment trust redemption it was said. In railroad quarters the opinion was expressed that the obligation would be met soon out of the roads' accumulated revenues.

New York Central Car Loadings Cut in Week

New York, March 1 (A.P.).—Freight loadings of the New York Central System last week, which included Washington's birthday, totaled 77,317 cars against 89,424 in the week ended February 18.

Reports of other roads for last week, with comparisons for the previous period, were: St. Louis Terminal, 26,431 cars against 27,910; Missouri Pacific, 16,950 against 18,458; International Great Northern, 3,565 against 3,933; Gulf Coast Lines, 2,223 against 2,272; Missouri-Kansas-Texas, 6,030 against 6,267; St. Louis-San Francisco, 10,878 against 11,277.

Wall Street Briefs

New York, March 1 (A.P.).—International Shoe Co. plans to retire 50,000 shares of its 6 per cent cumulative preferred stock at $105 a share.

Directors of Federal Light & Traction today postponed action on the common dividend until the annual meeting on March 8.

CURB TONE FIRMER IN QUIETER TRADING

Gains and Losses Are Mixed as Sales Decline to 130,000 Shares.

New York, March 1 (A.P.).—The curb market teetered uncertainly in quieter trading today, but developed a firmer undertone in the last hour.

Transfers fell off to 130,000 shares from 190,000 yesterday. The close found a mixture of net gains and losses.

Such actively traded utilities as American Gas & Electric and Electric Bond & Share recovered after a midday sag. The former was off only ⅝ at the close, and Bond & Share actually finished ¼ of a point higher. Commonwealth Edison gained 2 and Consolidated Gas of Baltimore lost ⅞ in a few transactions.

Oils sagged a little, as production figures, showing a stepup in crude output last week of more than 100,000 barrels daily, were interpreted unfavorably. Crude prices were reduced moderately in the Texas Panhandle, but wholesale gasoline was a little firmer in some areas, reflecting seasonal pickup in consumption. Such issues as Gulf, Standard of Indiana and Standard of Kentucky sagged ⅜ to ½ point.

Industrials were mixed and largely quiet. Cord Corporation gained ½ in a fair turnover, and Aluminum rose ¾. Pan American Airways appeared at 21, up 1. Deere sagged ⅜, although wheat prices stiffened in the late trading, and farm implements held up fairly well on the big board. Parker Rust, Mead Johnson and New Jersey Zinc lost about a point.

Receivership Is Sought For Poor's Manual Co.

Portland, Me., March 1 (A.P.).—A bill in equity seeking a receiver for Poor's Publishing Co., publisher of Poor's Manual and other financial services, has been dismissed without prejudice by Supreme Court Justice Sidney St. Felix Thaxter on motion of the plaintiff, George B. Soule, of Essex Falls, N. J., a stockholder.

Soule had sought a receiver, complaining that the company was in arrears in payments on its preferred stock in dividends and was being operated at a deficit.

GOODS MARKET.

New York, March 1 (A.P.).—Trade continued quiet in cotton goods today. Print cloths are now on a basis of 3 cents for 39½-inch 64x60s with the demand light. Wool goods were quiet especially in the men's wear division. Rayon fabrics and yarns were quiet. Burlaps were steady and inactive here.

COTTON PRICES RISE AS STOCKS IMPROVE

May Sells at 6.08 With General Market Gains of 9 to 12 Points.

New York, March 1 (A.P.).—Cotton advanced about 50 cents a bale today, partly in sympathy with the firmer stock market.

May sold up to 6.08 in the late trading and closed at 6.06, with the general market closing very steady at net advances of 9 to 12 points.

The opening was 4 to 11 points higher on covering combined with trade and commission-house buying, influenced by overnight reports that the House had passed the cotton relief bill with amendments.

The market worked gradually lower around midday, but buying became more active in the late trading. Losses from the early advance were just about recovered, with near months making new highs for the day. March sold to 5.98 and July to 6.20. Closing quotations were within a point or two of the best.

Mills in China.

Cable advices from Shanghai to the New York Cotton Exchange Service said that, owing to the North China conflict, practically no yarn business was doing and stocks accumulating with prices poor, and that Japanese-owned mills in China were considering curtailment.

Fertilizer tag sales for six Southern States in February were estimated at 166,000 tons, compared with 163,000 last year and 284,000 two years ago.

Liverpool cables reported a small market, with traders awaiting clarification of conditions abroad. Exports today, 18,737, making 5,645,385 so far this season. Port receipts, 12,295. United States port stocks, 4,634,497.

WHEAT VALUES RISE ON LOSSES IN CROPS

Winter Acreage Abandoning Influences Gain; Corn. and Oats Up.

Chicago, Mar. 1 (A.P.).—Suggestions of huge abandonment of damaged United States winter wheat acreage lifted grain prices late today, more than offsetting earlier market downturns.

One leading private crop expert, who issued an estimate ahead of the majority of unofficial summaries due tomorrow, indicated an abandonment of 6,267,000 acres of wheat in Nebraska, Kansas, Oklahoma and Texas. This would be about 28 per cent loss from the Government forecast of December 1.

Wheat closed firm at 1-8 off to ½ up, compared with yesterday's finish; corn unchanged to 1-8 higher; oats varying from a shade decline to 1-8 advance, and provisions unchanged to a rise of 5 cents.

Cables Influence Market.

At first, the wheat market was largely dominated by disappointing cables and by adverse financial developments. Liverpool reported pressure of offerings of inferior quality of Argentine wheat abroad, and there was hesitation also because of unsettlement of securities at New York. Signs of possible moisture relief for drought districts in Kansas were an additional bearish influence.

In the late dealings, however, wheat prices developed a strong upward tendency, although reacting somewhat in the final transactions. The change from bearish sentiment appeared to result almost entirely from definite figures as to probable losses of domestic winter wheat. Today's unofficial report estimated the Nebraska crop as having a condition of 54 per cent, with abandonment 28 per cent; Kansas condition 45 per cent, and abandonment 30 per cent; Oklahoma condition 59, abandonment 20; Texas condition 55, abandonment 30.

Corn and oat prices trailed after wheat.

MONEY RATES FIRM ON CREDITS DEMAND

Bankers' Acceptances Higher, but Call Loans Stand Unchanged.

New York, March 1 (A.P.).—A firmer tendency again appeared in the New York money market today, resulting in some stiffening of rates for short-term credits, recently at recorded low levels.

The tendency was attributed chiefly to the demand for funds upon the New York money market, which constitutes the Nation's great reservoir of liquid funds, to meet requirements in localities with impaired banking facilities.

Rates on bankers' acceptances—an important form of two-name commercial credit—were jacked up 1 per cent, an exceptionally wide range. Changes in acceptance rates are usually by steps of one-eighth of 1 per cent, although on Monday the rates were pushed up one-half of 1 per cent.

The new rates are 2⅛-2⅜ per cent on maturities up to 90 days; 2⅜-2⅝ on 120 days, and 2⅝-2½ on 150 and 180 days. Rates have recently been as low as ⅝-¾ of 1 per cent on 30 to 90 day maturities. This week's increases bring the level back to a more normal basis, the recent unprecedented levels chiefly reflecting lack of demand. Rates are now at the highest point since last April 8.

Call money in the stock exchange again renewed at 1 per cent, the low rate which has prevailed for recent months, but in the outside market, where business was negligible, funds were quoted nominally at 2 per cent. Time loans against stock exchange collateral, recently as low as ½ of 1 per cent, were quoted nominally at 2½ per cent.

Later in the day, the call loan rate on the stock exchange was boosted to 2 per cent, to bring it in line with the outside rate. This was the first change in the official call money rate since September 13, when loans were renewed at 1 per cent, after several months of 2 and 2½ per cent money.

Dried Fruits Steady.

New York, March 1 (A.P.).—Dried fruits steady, unchanged.

Chicago, March 1 (A.P.).—Directors of the Wisconsin Power & Light Co. today declared a quarterly dividend of $1 a share on the 6 per cent cumulative preferred stock and $1.16⅔ a share on the 7 per cent, a reduction of one-third from the regular rate.

New York, March 1 (A.P.).—Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific Railway reports net loss of $9,956,800 for the year 1932. This compares with loss of $386,545 in 1931.

New York, Mar. 1 (A.P.).—Directors of J. C. Penney Co. today declared a quarterly dividend of 30 cents a share on the common stock, compared with disbursements of 45 cents paid since September, 1932. Prior to that time the quarterly rate was 45 cents. A regular quarterly dividend of $1.50 was authorized on the preferred stock. Both are payable March 31, to holdings of record March 20.

Roanoke, Va., Mar. 1 (A.P.).—The Norfolk & Western Railway Co. today made its initial bow to 1933's financial pages in a much more auspicious manner than it did a year ago; its January net income totaling $1,311,-927. Whereas in the first month of 1932 the figure was $458,543.

The increase is $855,348 and is mainly accounted for by more freight loadings—$171,864 in a comparison of the two months, and reduced operating expenditures the reduction being $717,542 last month compared with January, 1932.

New York, Mar. 1 (A.P.).—Pure Oil Co. today reduced the dividends on its preferred stocks. Payments of 37½ cents each were declared on the 5½ per cent and 6 per cent issues and of 50 cents on the 8 per cent shares, all payable April 1, to holdings of record March 10. The stocks previously had been on a respective annual basis of $5.25, $6 and $8.

A gross income of $67,361,142.55, which, after deductions for operating expenses and after providing $6,209,-486.97 for fixed charges, resulted in a net operating loss of $1,133,585.65, was shown in the annual report of the Radio Corporation of America, as announced tonight.

This figure showed a decline of 24 per cent as compared with the gross income of 1931, and was due, the report stated, to general business conditions. However, by economies in operation, the cost of doing business was said to have been reduced 33 per cent under the preceding year.

New York, Feb. 28 (A.P.).—The North American Co. today reported net income for 1932 of $16,415,750, equivalent after preferred dividends to $2.01 a share on the average common stock outstanding during the year. This compares with $24,272,950 in 1931, or $3.41 a share. Gross earnings amounted to $107,412,382, against $117,921,880 in the previous year.

Current assets on December 31, aggregating $53,504,639, including $28,-747,270 cash and $5,938,959 U. S. Government securities, compared with $43,361,111, $14,900,097 and $4,859,062, respectively, at the end of 1931. Current liabilities totaled $7,706,041, against $19,272,788.

OUTGOING SENATORS EULOGIZED AT FEAST

Smoot, Watson and Moses Subjects of Oratory at Republican Club.

Senators Reed Smoot, of Utah; George H. Moses, of New Hampshire, and James Watson, of Indiana, were eulogized by Senators Simeon D. Fess, of Ohio; Felix Hebert, of Rhode Island, and L. J. Dickinson, of Iowa, respectively, at a dinner of the National Capital Republican Club at the Mayflower Hotel last night.

More than 200 prominent Republicans attended the dinner and heard the speakers urge rank and file members of the G. O. P. not to be disheartened by the recent Democratic landslide, but to concentrate on congressional success in 1934 elections.

"Remember," said Senator Dickinson, "the red hot end of the poker will be in the Democrats' hands in '34."

The gathering was presided over by Edwin F. Colladay, Republican national committeeman for the District of Columbia, who acted as toastmaster and introduced the speakers. Vice President Curtis and Senator Moses, who were expected to attend, were not able to be present.

The Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone Co. Glee Club quartet sang a number of selections and Mme. Rosa Pollo Jarman, soloist, gave several renditions, accompanied by Mrs. Kenneth M. Uglow.

ABOUT THE SHOWSHOPS

By NELSON B. BELL.

IN the motion picture industry as everywhere else, it frequently develops that what is one man's meat is another man's poison—or the other way 'round, if you like.

GEORGE RAFT.

Take the case of George Raft, for example. Mr. Raft is a sleek and dapper youth whose early fame was achieved as a dancer in Tex Guinan's night club, in New York, and whose screen career has been rather more forced upon him than personally sought. From the outset, his forte has been gangster roles—grim, silent young men, with practically faultless haberdashery, thin lips and squinty eyes. There hasn't been a hair's breadth of difference among them and Mr. Raft has played them all alike, the last one exactly as he played the first one—which, by and large, is a swell way to save wear and tear on the creative faculty, if any.

However, there came a time when it seemed to Mr. Raft that enough was enough, of that sort of thing. So when his bosses handed him the part of "Popeye"—neither the slugging Mr. Irving, pride of the Northeast, nor yet Mr. Wimpy's friend in the comic strips—in William Faulkner's "Sanctuary," Mr. Raft could think of a raft of reasons why he wanted no part of it now or at any future time whatsoever. He'd break his contract before he'd play it. And that is to all intents and purposes what he did.

The net result was not wholly in Mr. Raft's favor, as has already been reported in these columns. His aforesaid bosses merely shrugged their shoulders—or maybe they didn't shrug them, I wouldn't be sure—took out the old blue pencil and marked his name right off the payroll. Not until then did it come out that Raft was being paid only a fraction of what has probably been his box-office worth—as witness that recent week when he occupied both the Earle and Loew's Fox screens in "Under Cover Man" and "Night After Night," respectively.

And the role of "Popeye" was simultaneously handed to Mr. Jack La Rue, whose specialty has been tough guys, too, for a long time, and whose salary probably is still less than Mr. Raft's, although I wouldn't know definitely about that.

Even so, Mr. La Rue seems to be one up on Mr. Raft in the matter of versatility. In addition to being a rowdy with great success before the cameras, he also has been a priest with no less happy results for all concerned. It was he, you will remember, who mumbled the marriage ceremony over Helen Hayes and Gary Cooper in the not wholly triumphant picturization of Ernest Hemingway's "A Farewell to Arms," which was just a little too denatured to ring entirely true.

Leaving Mr. Raft out of it, a "Sanctuary" doesn't seem too incongruous a place for a priest. Putting Mr. Raft back in it, what to do about his career?

Today marks the beginning of the officially programmed inaugural events. This afternoon in Constitution Hall, at 4:45 o'clock, Hans Kindler and the National Symphony Orchestra will open the round of inaugural festivities with a concert at which Mischa Elman, one of the greatest of contemporary violin virtuosi, will be the solo artist.

Elman will play Brahms' Concerto in D Major on a program that also will include a Glinka overture, the "Dream Pantomime" from "Heensel and Gretel," by Humperdinck, and the "Danse Bacchanale," from "Samson and Delilah," by Saint-Saens.

This concert, listed as the first event in the official inaugural program, will afford those who were unable to secure tickets for the Tibbett-Ponselle - Zimbalist - National Symphony opera concert tomorrow night an opportunity to hear this master of the violin in conjunction with Washington's own symphony orchestra.

The inaugural ball, in the Washington Auditorium the night of Saturday, March 4, will be in the nature of a field day for composers of popular works.

"The First Lady Waltz," an original composition by Eli Dantzig, dedicated to Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, will be played for the first time as a featured number of the dance program, Dantzig's St. George Knights having been chosen by the inaugural committee to play the ball with Rudy Vallee, Guy Lombardo, Eddie Duchin, "Happy" Rose and George Gaul's orchestras over one of the most comprehensive hookups in the history of radio.

The "Victory Waltz," dedicated to President-elect Roosevelt, will be danced in his honor at the ball by Florence Colbrook Powers and Donald Sawyer, international ballroom artists. Mme. D'Allaz, wife of Maj. Emir Yaeger, military attache of the embassies of Poland, Roumania and Czechoslovakia, and one of the foremost of European operatic stars, is coming to Washington especially to sing this number while it is being danced by Miss Powers and Mr. Sawyer.

Arturo Toscanini, dean of symphony conductors, who comes to the Capital on Tuesday to lead the Philharmonic-Symphony Orchestra, of New York in its farewell concert in the City of Washington, and who is reputed never to have indorsed a theatrical production of any kind, has broken the silence of a lifetime to declare that Podrecca's continental variety show, "The Piccoli," opening a week's engagement in the National Theater next Monday night, one of "the finest entertainments of the contemporary stage."

Sig. Toscanini is not the only distinguished indorser of this famous presentation, the list including also George Bernard Shaw, the late Eleanor Duse, Hilaire Belloc, Max Reinhardt, Benito Mussolini, Ignace Paderewski and scores more. Sig. Toscanini, it is said, will attend a performance at the National during his visit here next week.

During the National engagement, incidentally, five matinees will be given—the customary Wednesday and Saturday matinees and extra performances, timed for the accommodation of school children, on Tuesday, Thursday and Friday.

Speaking of matinees, in order that it may not conflict with the inaugural ceremonies on Saturday afternoon, the regular week-end matinee performance of Paul Muni and his excellent supporting company in Elmer Rice's "Counsellor-at-Law," will be given tomorrow afternoon at the National. "Counsellor-at-Law," by the way, will continue the attraction at the National through Sunday night.

Jennie Moscowitz, who plays Paul Muni's mother in "Counsellor-at-Law," since you have been trying so diligently to remember, first attracted widespread notice when she appeared in support of David Warfield in his famous play of "The Auctioneer." She has since scored signally in several editions of the perennially popular Potash & Perlmutter plays, based on the Montague Glass stories.

And Anne Teeman, the private secretary in Mr. Muni's admirable vehicle, was talked out of a newspaper job on the Chicago Tribune in favor of a stage career by Charlie MacArthur, playwright-husband of Helen Hayes. She has played in "Up Pops the Devil," "Joseph," with Georgie Jessel; "Kibitzer," with Edward G. Robinson, and "The Valiant," with Bert Lytell—"The Valiant" being Mr. Lytell's personal property and perpetual potboiler.

So Nathan Zatkin, recently here as offstage voice for the Three X Sisters—whom you remember well as Ibex, Index and Kopex—again in-our-midsting, pops his head in the door to say that Vaughn De Leath, literally the first lady of the radio, is arriving in town tonight to begin a week of toplining at the Earle tomorrow. In addition to being one our better voices, Miss De Leath is by way of being also a designer of interior decorations that mark the higher reaches of artistry.

The entire line of march for the attractions in the temples of the titillating tintypes the coming week will be approximately like this: Earle, Bebe Daniels, Una Merkel, Ginger Rogers, Ruby Keeler and George Brent in "42d Street," with Vaughn De Leath headlining the vaudeville and the "42d Street Special" stars appearing on Sunday; Loew's Fox, Lee Tracy in "Clear All Wires," and Freeman Gosden and Charles Correll, "Amos 'n' Andy," headlining the vaudeville; Rialto, Esther Ralston and Conrad Veidt in "Rome Express," opening Friday midnight; RKO-Keith's, Richard Dix, Wera Engels and Edna May Oliver in "The Great Jasper;" Palace, Mae West in "She Done Him Wrong;" Metropolitan, Loretta Young and Paul Lukas in "Grand Slam;" Columbia, Ralph Bellamy and Sally Eilers in "Second Hand Wife," opening Monday.

Another brief word from Daniel Frohman, president of the Actors' Fund of America, in charge of the Actors' Fund Inaugural Benefit at the Belasco Theater this Sunday night, stresses the importance of the clowning that is to be done on the gala bill by Beatrice Lillie (Lady Peel) and Noel Coward in a skit of Mr. Coward's deft concoction. Such names as Fanny Ward, Robert Emmett Keane, William Faversham, Cecilia Loftus, Fanny Hurst, Montagu Love, Vaughn De Leath, Bill Robinson, Peter Higgins, Harian Garbell, a Meyer Davis orchestra, the "Forty-second Street Special" stars from the Warner Bros.' lot and scores more still continue to emblazon the roster of principals in this all-star performance for the worthiest of causes.

I don't know whether it's all new or not, but there certainly is a deal going on these next few days!

ODDIE HITS WILBUR ATTACK ON NEVADA

Senator Charges Secretary Actuated by Solicitude for Contractors.

(Associated Press.)

In a continuation of his feud with Secretary Wilbur, Senator Oddie (R., Nev.) yesterday wrote the Interior Department chieftain that the latter's "professed solicitude for the welfare of workers" on the Hoover Dam project was a smoke screen to hide efforts to aid the building contractors.

Oddie put a copy of his letter to Wilbur into the Congressional Record. It was in answer to a recent letter from Wilbur, explaining the department's reasons for wanting to put the Hoover Dam reservation under the National Park Service.

"When you say in defense of your action in attempting to create an exclusive Federal jurisdiction reservation, 'not only to safeguard the welfare of the worker on the job' and your official acts have been so detrimental to the best interests of the workers, it leaves only one conclusion—that your letter of professed solicitude for the welfare of the worker is only a smoke screen to hide your efforts in behalf of the Six Companies, Inc.," Oddie wrote.

"All these disclosures emphasize the great necessity of an immediate and thorough investigation of your department, the Six Companies, Inc., and the relationship existing between this Government enterprise and those having dealings with it," he continued.

"It ill becomes a Federal official in your position to make a misleading and unjust attack on a sovereign State. I resent your misrepresentations regarding conditions in Nevada as well as your prejudiced defense of conditions existing at Hoover Dam which have resulted in much unnecessary loss of life, human suffering and misery for which your department and the Six Companies, Inc., are responsible."

Mae Clarke and Holmes Hurt.

Hollywood, Calif., March 1 (A.P.).—Mae Clarke and Phillip Holmes, feature players, were injured last night when Holmes' automobile, in which Miss Clarke was riding, struck a parked car during a fog here. An X-ray today revealed Miss Clarke's jaw was fractured.

CONGRESS PASSES BANKRUPTCY BILL

Hoover Expected to Approve Act Aiding Individuals, Farmers and Carriers.

(Associated Press.)

The La Guardia bankruptcy reform bill was rushed through Congress yesterday by House action, and last night awaited President Hoover's expected signature. It is designed to permit individual, farmer and railroad debtors to compromise their obligations with creditors without resorting to expensive bankruptcy proceedings. For individuals, this, briefly, is how it works:

Individuals may file voluntary petition, with the Federal courts. Secured and unsecured creditors will be notified, and a custodian of the property will be appointed by the court after inventory is taken. Creditors will be called to meet to consider terms of composition or extension of the debts. The court then will confirm or reject a proposal agreed upon by a majority of the creditors.

For farmers—Upon application of fifteen farmers in a given area, the court may appoint a qualified conciliation commissioner, and for five years after enactment of the legislation individual farmers may file petitions. The property of a petitioner will be inventoried and secured and unsecured creditors called to meet to consider a compromise of extension proposals by the farmer.

A majority of the creditors may approve a compromise and ask for confirmation by the court. The proposal will be confirmed if the court is satisfied it includes equitable and feasible liquidation for secured creditors and financial rehabilitation of the farmer.

For railroads—Any railroad corporation may file a petition of insolvency, with the Federal court, a copy to go to the Interstate Commerce Commission, and a plan of reorganization, including a proposal to modify rights of creditors and stockholders, may be submitted.

The court may appoint a panel of standing trustees, to be directed by the Interstate Commerce Commission in the management of the mine during the proceedings. The commission will supervise the reorganization plan after hearing creditors and stockholders, or plans they propose.

CRONIN DEMANDS SCIENTIFIC BASEBALL OF NATS

A. A. U. Court Play Opens Tonight

Russell to Toss Out First Ball in Post Tournament.

Colonial Five to Meet Higbies in Feature of 3-Game Card.

WILLIAM E. RUSSELL, president of the District of Columbia Chapter of the A. A. U., will toss a basket ball into the air at Tech High gymnasium at 8 o'clock tonight and then duck.

Mr. Russell will have started the annual District championship tournament of the A. A. U., which The Post has sponsored for nearly a decade, and he knows enough about the brand of play the tournament brings not to linger long after that opening gesture. He will have sent the Olmsted Grill against the Virginia Black Hawks, and until seven championships have been decided, the Tech gymnasium will fairly boil with the do-or-die brand of basket ball which stamps tournament play as the outstanding competition offered by the great indoor sport.

Colonials and Higbies In Next Clash.

An hour later, as one of these teams will be collecting the pieces while the other is asking, "When do we play that next club?" the Colonial Canoe Club and the Higbie, Richardson and Franklin quintets square off for the first unlimited class battle. At 10 o'clock the District Cleaners and the Crescent A. C. will struggle to escape elimination.

Only those basket ball fans with thrill-proof hearts should be admitted to the tournament games. And the early-round contests are apt to be the best played and most closely fought of the month program. Last year an opening night game went three extra periods which set a mark for basket ball battles waged in this section.

Due to their appearance in the unlimited class, the Colonial Canoe-Higbie game is regarded tonight's feature. Both teams are primed for the contest, having run the gauntlet of long schedules with the championship play as their objectives.

Olmsteds Defending 145-Pound Title.

In the first of the 145-pound games, Olmsted Grill makes its first bid to retain the 145-pound title with practically the same players who triumphed last year. The Virginia Black Hawks will enter the game the underdogs—a rating that has often brought victories in the tournament. The Crescents, seeking a title for the fifth straight year, are favored over the District Cleaners.

All players holding A. A. U. registration cards will be admitted to tonight's games. After tonight only players of teams on each program will be admitted by showing their cards.

The nominal fee of 25 cents for each night's program is charged the public.

3-Cushion Champion To Play Here Today

Washington's three-cushion billiard fans have their innings today when Welker Cochran, world's champion, meets J. N. Bozeman, jr., runner-up in the title event, in exhibitions this afternoon at 3 o'clock and tonight at 8 at the Lewis & Krauss parlors.

Cochran is quite a favorite here. It was in the tournament at the Arcadia several years ago that he won the 18.2 balkline championship, and he has shown here on several occasions in both the balkline and angle games. Following both matches Cochran and Bozeman will entertain with trick and fancy shots, and to many these are almost as interesting as are the competitions.

BRADDOCK DISQUALIFIED.

Philadelphia, March 1 (A.P.).—Al Ettore, Philadelphia heavyweight, was awarded a victory over Jimmy Braddock, Jersey City, N. J., slugger, tonight after Referee Joe McGuigan disqualified the Jerseyan in the fourth round of an eight round final of a boxing card. McGuigan said Braddock was not trying.

SCHOLL'S WANT GAME.

The Scholl's tossers are without a game tonight and would like to arrange one in the Central gym. Call Decatur 0032 around 6 p. m.

C. U. AND MD. BOXERS TO BATTLE

Bouts Vie With Intramural Finals at Brookland Tonight.

HISTORY will be in the making tonight in the Catholic University Gym, where for the first time in the annals of local sports two collegiate institutions from this vicinity will meet in a boxing exhibition. The contestants, Maryland University and Catholic University, are staging an "informal" meeting of their representative leather-throwing squads.

The night will also witness the first public appearance of the C. U. band which has been practicing for several weeks. Next fall, for the first time, the Cardinals' football games will be enlivened by blasts and thumps from the students' horns and drums.

Packey McFarland, who needs no introduction to the Nation's ring followers, will referee the contests, while Denny Hughes, Pat O'Connor and Joe Donohue will be judges. Richmond B. Keech, people's counsel of the District, will be timer.

Representative Fred A. Hartley, who has been supporting the District amateur boxing bill, has been invited to attend. Admission will be by invitation only and strict collegiate rules of procedure will be followed.

Starting at 8 o'clock the host school will parade out the semifinals of its intramural boxing program, which has been progressing for some days. The principals will be: 115-pound class, De Noto vs. Laibick; 125-pound class, Mesce vs. Cannezzaro; 135-pound class, Bresnahan vs. Ellerby; 145-pound class Doherty vs. Thompson; 165-pound class, Bonavia vs. Drangianis; 175-pound class, Flemming vs. McGann.

Maryland University is using all of its first string team with the exception of Cliff Swift and Bob Graves in the interschool tilts and C. U. is using the best material available at that institution.

Ringmen in the main attraction will be as follows: 125-pound class, Swift (M. U.) vs. Miro (C.U.); 135-pound class, Burns (M. U.) vs. Thibodeau (C. U.); 145-pound class, Keener (M. U.) (captain), vs. Stein (captain) (C. U.); 155-pound class, Jones (M. U.) vs. Stapleton (C. U.); 165-pound class, Reid (M. U.) vs. Barron (C. U.).

An exhibition match between Danny Pine, the C. U. boy, who won the D. C. A. A. U. heavyweight title and Tom Gearty, also of C. U will be one of the features of the show.

Automobile Is Prize At Gun Club's Shoot

The feature event of the 1933 season of the Washington Gun Club thus far has been scheduled for tomorrow, with a new model Chevrolet automobile as the prize in an inaugural week shoot at the club's range near Benning.

The shoot will be staged on the distance-handicap system, with contestants standing from sixteen to twenty-five yards from the traps, the yardage of each shooter being determined by his registered average.

The shoot has drawn an impressive field, with many traps artists of national reputation due to compete.

Basket Ball Mark Set As Team Wins, 164-8

Stanley, N. D., March 1 (A.P.).—A basket ball score of 164 to 8 must be some kind of a record. It was made here last night when the local Independent Team defeated a team from Belden.

Cliff Johnson, local forward, tossed in 43 baskets during the play. Olag Kaasa, former Luther College star, scored 19, while the other members of the team added a basket or two each. There were no personal fouls and no free throws made.

At the half the score was 84 to 2. The local team scored an average of 4.1 points a minute.

POST MORTEMS . . .

The biggest pay-off ever recorded on a winning horse was in 1929 when odds of 3,400 to 1 were handed to Mrs. Ainsworth, wife of a Liverpool, England, doctor . . . she bet two shillings on Coole in a jumping race at Haydock Park and received $1,705 in return . . . Man o' War was 1 to 100 in a race in 1920 when a local bookmaker booked a $2 bet to win . . . he won and the bookie paid off the bettor with a two-cent postage stamp . . . Bib Falk's nickname while he was playing for the Indians was "Five-Fifteen" . . . because he broke into the Cleveland line-up every day at about 5:15 p. m. as a pinch-hitter . . . Emile Prante, the big Philadelphian who fought Bob Tow at Portner's Arena, was the first fighter ever to show there who didn't climb through the ropes . . . he simply stepped over them . . .

The Cherokees who play Indian ball at Central Stadium tomorrow will either show some action or freeze . . . they'll play barefooted, clothed in nothing but skimpy panties . . . Bobby Goldstein, the local boy at Virginia U., who won the Southern Conference lightweight boxing title, will forego the professional ring to study medicine . . . did you know that in the average football game the ball is actually in play only 12 minutes? . . . the 3-year-old gelding by Donnacona—Ding Dong is the most aptly named horse now racing . . . they labeled him Dodiodo . . . and who should own him but two gentlemen named Plunkett and Chinn . . . a son of Man o' War received his name as a yearling from a Negro groom . . . "Who's he by?" a visitor asked the groom . . . "By Hisself, Man o' War," was the reply . . . and the colt was thereby named By Hisself.

Only 4 Clubs Bothered by Holdouts

Ruth, Gehrig, Ferrell Chief Problems in American League.

Frisch, Vance, Wilson Out of Fold; Group May Suffer.

By ALAN GOULD.
(Associated Press Sports Editor).

NEW YORK, March 1 (A.P.).—With the major league baseball caravans deployed today on a widespread front, marking the full swing of another spring training campaign, only four of the sixteen clubs still appeared to be harassed seriously by holdouts in the rear guard.

So long as this list constitutes such notable figures as Babe Ruth and Lou Gehrig, of the Yankees; Wes Ferrell, of the Indians; Frank Frisch and Dazzy Vance, of the Cardinals, and Hack Wilson, of the Dodgers, it constitutes a major problem in front-office tactics.

Nevertheless, it is significant that the actual sounding of the bugle calls at camps scattered from Catalina to Miami has prompted many of the balkiest troops to snap into line.

Lucas Finally Comes To Terms.

For example, Charles (Red) Lucas, iron man of the Cincinnati pitching staff, has come to terms after shouting his defiance to the neighboring hilltops. George Earnshaw, who was beguiled on the Pacific Coast into thinking it looked "like a breeze" for the Yankees again, not only has signed with Connie Mack, but changed his tune completely and, he says, turned over a new leaf.

The players holding out the longest may fare the worst when it comes down to the actual signing of documents, according to information obtained by the Associated Press from sources close to baseball's inner sanctums. The dubious prospects for another season "in the red," the tax problems and other worries have combined to convince the magnates they must now trim expenses even more sharply than they first figured.

It seems certain now that the Yankees will make no compromise offers to Ruth, Gehrig or their other star holdouts, Bill Dickey, Red Ruffing and perhaps Tony Lazzeri. The understanding is that Col. Jacob Ruppert, when he makes his annual visit along about the middle of March to the Yankee camp at St. Petersburg, not only will make no overtures to Ruth, but has no idea now of raising his original offer of $50,000 for a 1933 contract.

Ruth Lucky to Get $50,000.

With the salary of Commissioner Landis reduced voluntarily to $40,000 now and the scale dropping rapidly in every department of the business, the feeling is fast crystallizing that the Babe will be lucky this year to draw as much as $50,000.

Brooklyn hasn't decided yet whether it will even allow holdouts to report to the camp at Miami, according to Secretary Dave Driscoll. However, he added that Joseph A. Gilleaudeau, one of the owners, would go South soon and if necessary deal personally with such recalcitrant athletes as Hack Wilson, Joe Stripp, Al Lopes and Dan Taylor.

Cleveland and the St. Louis Cardinals are the only other clubs with serious holdout problems remaining. The Browns and White Sox may also have a few difficulties to straighten out, but they do not seem serious now. The Nats, Athletics, Red Sox, Giants and Pirates have all signed.

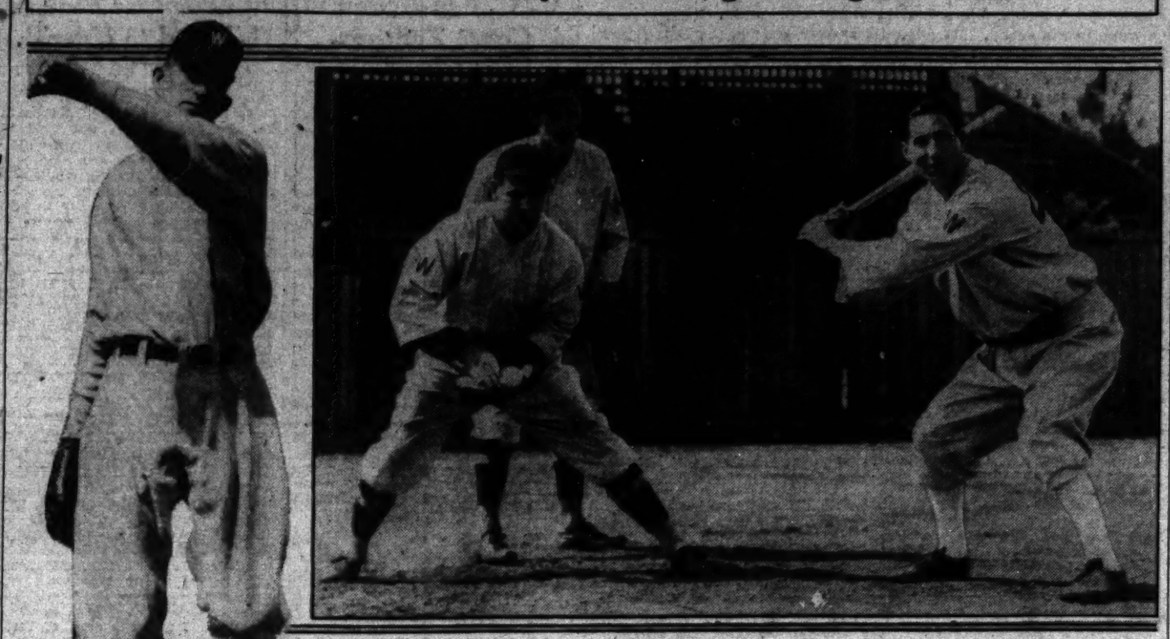
Massachusetts Mutuel Bill Favorably Reported

Boston, March 1 (A.P.).—A bill to legalize pari-mutuel betting at horse races in Massachusets was favorably reported today by the legislative committee on legal affairs. Representative John S. Derham, a member of the committee, who voted for the bill said that through it the State would receive approximately $700,000 in revenue.

MR. SPONGE SOLD.

Miami, Fla., March 2 (A.P.).—Mr. Spongy, 8-year-old gelded son of Luke McLuke, and Pari Mutuel, speedy 5-year-old, have been sold by Joseph E. Widener to C. Leroy King at private terms. Both horses were among the best performers in the stable of the head of the Miami Jockey Club.

Al Schacht First and Only Nat Taking Batting Practice



Louis Johrden, Post Staff Photographer.

Batting practice for the Nats at Biloxi has been banned thus far so that the entire field may be devoted to the conditioning work of the batterymen, but Schacht is permitted to take his daily swings at the plate on the theory that a ball that isn't hit won't hurt anybody. Schacht once hit a foul off Bob Cassell and raised his batting average to .012. Luke Sewell is seen behind the plate, with Jack Russell calling balls and strikes. At left is Walter Stewart, erstwhile St. Louis southpaw who is fast rounding into shape.

JUDSON AND GROBMIER CLASH

Trick-Hold Specialists Battle Tonight in Mat Feature.

THE wrestling front is active again tonight with Fred Grobmier, the lithe and lean Iowan, ready to entwine several feet of limbs about the compact chassis of Frank Judson in the main bout of the program at the Auditorium, where Joe Turner is staging his inaugural week card.

Both Grobmier and Judson have at different times occupied the favoritism of Washington wrestling fandom, with Grobmier hailed some time back as the man who might beat Jim Londos, who dissipated any such beliefs last summer by disposing of the Iowan at Griffith Stadium without undue exertion.

But Grobmier in recent performances has won his way back into the favor of local fans and it will be the retention of that favor that is his goal tonight in the Judson match, for the latter himself is in a fair way of winning the "favorite son" label if he disposes of Grobmier.

The semifinal ties with the main bout in interest, bringing together as it does Paul Jones, the scissors exponent, and Big Jim Clinstock, the Indian, who should star at the Cherokees' native game of Indian ball, where there are no rules after the game starts.

And the semifinal must vie with one of the preliminaries for rough-and-tumble honors, for none other than Rough Rudy Dusek is one of the principals in a 30-minute time-limit bout that has him matched with Jim Atlas. Floyd Marshall and Tigah Nelson meet in the opening bout of the program.

GODWIN DEFEATS KNIGHT.

West Palm Beach, Fla., Mar. 1 (U. P.).—Joe Knight, 22-year-old Cairo, Ga., farm boy, tonight lost his brand new light heavyweight boxing crown recently conferred by the National Boxing Association, dropping a ten-round decision to Bob Godwin, of Daytona Beach, Fla.

Cronin Omitted in Team Named by Doc Farrell in Post's Baseball Contest

By FRANK H. YOUNG.

ALL was quiet in the Sports Department of The Post last night; some of the reporters were reporting while others were busily dictating their stories to the pretty girl stenographers, when one of the uniformed pages announced Francis (Doc) Farrell as a visitor. The good doctor, it seems, had just spent an hour or so in the sumptuous, plush-carpeted waiting room, studying the works of art on the wall and all the while mulling over in his mind the many baseball stars which had studded the rosters of the Washington Club as far back as 1912.

"I've got 'em," he announced, reaching for an aspirin to help make him feel more at home among the intellectual giants of the Sports Department.

"Got what?" he was asked.

The Winning Team—By Doc Farrell.

"Why, I got the team that will win those eight box seats to the 1933 opening game in The Post's contest." Whereupon, the doctor, after searching himself carefully, dug up the following list: Judge, first base; Harris, second base; Bluege, third base; McBride, shortstop; Goslin, left field, Milan, center field; Rice, right field, Ruel and Ainsmith, catchers, and Johnson, Coveleskie, Crowder and Zachary, pitchers.

"You know," the doctor confided, "this contest was just made to order for me. Wasn't I the star first baseman for the old St. Stephens Club and the Knickerbockers? And haven't I seen just about as many games here as the next one?"

Before these questions could be answered the doctor started explaining just who's who and why on his team.

"I guess a lot of people will be naming Foster at third, but they probably don't make allowance for the fact that he played when they had the dead ball. Since Bluege has been on the job they've put rabbits in it, and yet he's been stopping grounders and drives just the same as Foster did when they came to him at only half speed.

Can't See Cronin With Microscope.

As to the shortstop job, I can't see Cronin with a microscope. He missed too many easy ones. I rate Peck and McBride a toss-up and am favoring the latter because he was a star here for many more years than was Peck.

"While many are debating between Harris, Myer or Morgan as second baseman, I am not even hesitating in naming Harris. He was a great fielder, an exceptional double-play man and, while not a wonderful hitter, he came through in the pinches.

"I don't see any need for doubt over Judge's name as the first baseman and they'll have to show me how any one can beat Goslin, Milan and Rice as the outfielders.

Nominates Marberry For Relief Work.

"Johnson probably will be picked by every one among the pitchers, and naturally so. I'm nominating Marberry, for his great relief work in 1924 and 1925 in particular; Coveleskie, for his one great season here 1925, when he led the league in both percentage and victories, and Crowder, for his great work last year, for the other three berths.

"How can anybody beat that team?" the doctor concluded.

The writer, not having any idea whom President Clark Griffith will name, dodged the question. It's up to Washington fans to answer it by their ballots. Entries close on March 15. Thousands already have been received, but there is still room for more. Let's have your answer.

BILOXI BUNTS

Special to The Washington Post.

BILOXI, Miss., March 1.—The front porch of the players' hotel looked like one of those May and December weddings today, when almost arm in arm there arrived on the local scene Cecil Travis, age 19, and 41-year-old Edgar Charles Rice, known to the trade as Sam and to his intimates as the Chinaman.

The surest way to tell that the pitchers are speeding up their deliveries and whacking them into the mitt of the catchers with increasing speed, is to look at a little dial on the side of the news cameras being wielded down here. The cameramen pepped their boxes up to one five-hundredth of a second exposures today to "stop" Crowder and Whitehill.

Tommy Thomas is another who is causing resounding noises to bark all over the lot. His revamped arm has not caused him an instant pain or worry since he began letting his fast ones go.

Griffith wasn't too pleased with the workout of Bud Thomas this morning. Young Thomas' delivery is too cramped. "He's throwing the ball with only that part of his arm between his elbow and wrist. But I suppose it's too early to count."

Sam Rice said he is ready to play, upon arriving this morning, and then spent the whole day on the Biloxi golf course. Maybe he meant golf.

Joe Cronin had to do a bit of explaining to Griffith a month ago when he wrote to him and asked him to OK Johnny Kerr's coming to Biloxi with the pitchers. Griffith wanted to know what good a reserve infielder was in a camp full of pitchers and catchers. There's no doubt now in Griffith's mind. If Johnny isn't worth the $5 a day that it costs the ball players to stop in Biloxi, dimes aren't worth a nickel.

"Schnoz," as he is affectionately known, is everything down here, ranging from fence repairer to manager, from bat boy to the brains of the catching department. He directs all pepper drills, is the chief (and only) base runner in camp, is honorary president of the long-winded lobby brigade, leads the pack into the dining room and stays to the bitter end, hears the confessions of all the rookies in camp, and keeps the batteries charged up, both on the ball field and in the hotel bus. Outside of being a little screwey about playing slot machines, he's a pretty decent sort.

Griffith has decided to take Bucky Harris' advice and keep Bob Fridericks with the club this year as a pitcher. He will be the first Nat ever to wear glasses on the field. Fridericks' eyes have gotten no better over the winter and today he appeared in steel-rimmed cheaters, which he says he'll wear during the season.

Two Washington players, both pitchers, wore glasses frequently off the diamond and occasionally in morning practices, Fred Marberry and Doc Ayers.

JERSEY CITY DEAL AIM OF JOHNSON

Awaits Word of Offer to Buy Club; League May Name Him.

WALTER JOHNSON was in New York yesterday making a serious effort to land the Jersey City franchise in the International League. The former great pitcher, who last fall gave way to Joe Cronin as Washington Club leader, has been frequently mentioned in connection with the Skeeters, but only as a representative of the league in case it was forced to take over the club from its present owners. Over long-distance telephone last night, however, Johnson admitted that he has made an offer for the club.

"I've got somebody who is willing to go in with me on the proposition," he said, "but there is nothing doing right now, and, to tell the truth, I don't know just exactly what will be done, or when. There are a number of things which must be ironed out before either the club can be sold or the league can take it over. It is not even known now whether or not the present owner will be able to straighten things out and again run the club."

So this means that Johnson has two chances to connect with the "Skeeters." In case his offer is accepted, he will join the club as joint owner and manager, while should Owner Sam Colacurcio fail to live up to his obligations and the league take over the club, it is understood that Johnson stands an excellent chance to being named by the circuit to run the club for it.

Things seem to be in quite a jumbled state with respect to the Jersey City Club, but with training camp season nearing, some definite action must be taken soon. In the meantime, there is nothing left for Johnson to do but mark time and hope for a break as regards one of the two propositions which involve him and his baseball future.

G. W. Basket Ball Bruisers to Clash

Basket ball in the raw, big muscle men attempting the court sport without the safety of the four-foul rule, will be on exhibition tonight in the George Washington University gymnasium in a double-header attraction beginning at 7 o'clock.

Performing for the benefit of the G. W. Varsity Club entertainment fund, the Freshmen Bonecrushers will engage the Varsity Steamrollers and the Varsity Seniors will meet the Varsity Undergraduates. The first game brings together teams composed almost entirely of football players whose enthusiasm compensates their lack of skill, while the nightcap offers the best basket ball talent the school can muster. In this contest the graduating members of the successful Colonial varsity squad—Zahn, Fenlon, Chambers, Mulvey and Burgess—will battle the sophomore and juniors, Carlin, Howell, Wray, Hertzler, Noonan and Parrish.

Owing to deficiency of numbers, the contestants agreed to dispense with the personal foul rule. Admission will be 25 cents.

Joe's System Likened to Harris'

Youthful Manager Is Quick to Diagnose Faults of Players.

Travis, New Arrival, Takes Lesson; Bolton Given Attention.

By BOB CONSIDINE
(Post Staff Correspondent).

BILOXI, Miss., March 1.—Working on the assumption that geniuses do not necessarily have to be born, Joe Cronin today announced that the teaching of scientific baseball would be a part of the curriculum at training camp this year, just as important a part as reducing the Nationals' waist line, and put the law immediately into effect by singling out half the pitching staff, the catching staff and today's most interesting arrival, Third Baseman Cecil Travis. Cronin first tried out the plan (which hasn't been used since the early days of Bucky Harris' regime) on Cliff Bolton.

Joe thought he detected something wrong with the manner in which Cliff squatted behind the bat and so called a catcher's conference with Luke Sewell and Moe Berg, both of them rated among the headiest receivers in baseball. Cronin, Sewell and Berg went to work on Bolton.

Berg, Sewell Teaching Bolton.

In the first place, Cliff, upon receiving the ball, was taking a natural step to his left and back before pegging it to the necessary bag. He was throwing the ball from back on his heels. First Moe and then Luke would take their turn at receiving a pitched ball and pegging it. The seasoned old-timers were beautiful examples of good catching form. The natural manner with which they stepped up one stride the moment the ball struck their gloves and let the ball fly toward the bag with the same motion was a revelation to Bolton, who has been stepping away from the ball and batter ever since his sandlot days.

Young Bolton is quick to learn. After a half an hour, with Cronin, Sewell and Berg taking frequent time outs to show him what he was doing wrong he looked considerably better. Every once in a while Cronin himself would don the catcher's mitt and attempt to show Cliffy what Luke and Moe were talking about. Incidentally, it might be put in at this point, that Joe is acquainting himself with the problems of every position on the field.

Travis Also Receives Lesson.

There was much more to the instructive catching lesson than probing new methods of getting the ball away. Sewell gave a demonstration of the catching habits of every great receiver in the league, the methods they use to peg out runners, push interfering batters out of the way, scramble after bunts and shoot the ball underhanded to the bag.

Then Joe started in on Travis. The much ballyhooed young man who ambled into camp this morning, looking much more civilized than his ad-

MARMION SNAPS CHARACTER'S STREAK IN MIAMI FEATURE

Carlaris' Son Beaten 3-4 Length

Marmion, Favorite at $3.60 Runs Mile in Mud in 1:40.

Garlic Likes Footing, Beats Lucky Racket at $11.80 Mutuel.

HIALEAH PARK, Fla., March 1 (A.P.).—Character, the homely, skinny 3-year-old which flies the silks of the B. B. Stable, entered the Fort Lauderdale Handicap one mile here today with a record of eleven victories in his last twelve starts—five straight here and his last seven in a row—but the gelded son of Carlaris struck a snag in the Coldstream Stud's 4-year-old Marmion. The latter, in receipt of sixteen pounds by the weight-for-age scale, was a handy winner by three parts of a length over his younger rival. Don Leon was the only other starter and was beaten off, seven lengths back.

Overnight rains produced a heavy track, the first time at the meeting that the going has been other than fast. Marmion, favorite at $3.60 for $2 and creator of a new mile record of 1:36 in his last start, ran the muddy mile in 1:40 for his third consecutive score.

Character Given Perfect Ride.

Buddy Hanford gave Character a perfect ride and, while his mount, which incidentally is one of the most respected of the Florida derby candidates, displayed the same bulldog gameness which marked his previous races, Marmion appeared easily the master. The Coldstream colt was away very slowly and never was asked to run until entering the stretch. Hanford reserved Character off Don Leon's pace for five furlongs, then sent the gelding into command. Marmion slowly but surely cut down the leader's advantage through the stretch and was in hand as he won going away.

For the first time at the meeting no one held a daily double ticket on the winners of both the first and third races. The pool was divided. Holders of Mintwina tickets receiving $5.30 for $2, and holders of Boston Waters tickets received $118.40 for $2. Boston Waters, which paid $64.50, beat Nose In by a length with Zorana another length away in the third position. The winner was rated close to the pace to the head of the stretch then drew away from Zorana and held Nose In safe in the drive to the wire.

Mintwina, showing great fondness for the heavy going, outran her field practically all the way to win the 6-furlong dash for 3-year-olds which opened the card. Well played at $7.80 for $2, the John Whyte filly beat Chance Meeting, the favorite, by a length, with Wayward Lad a good third after being in a pocket the latter part of the running. Chance Meeting seemed to run in spots, but made a valiant effort to catch the winner.

Wise Ways, paying $27.30, was a driving winner of the juvenile contest, finishing a length in advance of Her Hero. Forceful lost the place by a head. Her Hero, although bumped after the start, gamely raced into a narrow lead. He disposed of Prince Drake entering the last furlong, but Wise Ways made a strong closing bid and drew away in the last few strides. Forceful made up ground steadily to garner the show from Prince Drake.

Garlic Finds Footing To Liking.

The slow-beginning Garlic found the footing to his liking in the mile and a furlong of the fourth event and scored over Lucky Racket by a length and a half to return $11.80. Traffic Judge was third, two lengths behind. Garlic, as usual, was a distant trailer most of the way, but Don Meade shot him through on the inside turning for home and saved a lot of ground, while Lucky Racket was making Newgro stop. Lucky Racket bore over and impeded Garlic in the stretch, but the winner was good enough to come on and win despite the interference.

Redress, an improving and well-bred 3-year-old from the C. V. Whitney barn, proved much the best in the sixth event decided over the 1-mile distance. Displaying a typical long St. German's stride similar to that of the great Twenty Grand and Jungle King, other sons of St. Germans, Redress led Idealist home by a good three lengths in 1:40 1-5. Crap Shooter was a beaten-off third. Redress was rated off the leaders, Idealist and Crap Shooter, until midway of the final bend, then forged ahead and drew clear to pay $7.80.

AT THE POST

with Bill Bennings

DEAR AL: MIAMI, MARCH 1.

Well, boy, the mud came up today for the first time during the meeting and my selections proved pretty fair in the going. Garlic did as I expected, Meade bringing the veteran up at the stretch turn and wearing down Traffic Judge and Lucky Racket in the stretch to win easily. Marmion did as everybody in the East figured, taking the measure of Character and clipping the B. B. Stable star's winning streak. As usual, I was in the money all along the route, with two of my first horses getting place awards. Tomorrow I'm out for price. If you're with me, both of us may make some dough.

BILL.

FIRST RACE—Last week I gave LADY DEAN a chance to show her stuff and she failed me. Tomorrow is another day and another kind of track. Watch out for this mare. She is red hot. ENGLEWOOD will appreciate the going and should win if the top miss makes any mistakes. LAURA GAL drops down several pegs and may take the third money.

SECOND RACE—TOMFOOLERY is as good as anything in this field. Ran a fine race last week. Boasts a good post position and early speed enough to escape the crowding. CHOCOLATE DROP and BETTY WEE seem to have the edge on the others.

THIRD RACE—WISE COUNT won easily last out and figures to make it two in a row here. If there is an upset I look for Broadway Jones' son, BROADWAY LIGHTS, to turn the trick. This gelding has a leaning to an off track and showed startling form the other day. BARCELONA PETE may take the show.

FOURTH RACE—DAUDET has been waiting for a track of the sort that sems certain tomorrow. I watched this one work in the mud at Pimlico last fall and he ran the clockers dizzy. Get down across the board. Looks like the spot. •INLANDER is in good form but may not like the going. BOBBING, a Bradley proposition, is dangerous.

FIFTH RACE—ACTION will give this field all it can handle. A reformed plater that has made a high mark since arriving here. INDIAN RUNNER is speedy and may take the place. I'm putting the devil, PORTER'S DREAM, third. Gets in light and will love the going.

SIXTH RACE—Watch out for TRY IT tomorrow, after some of the speed in this race gets through battling for the pace-setting honors. They make few mistakes with this one. MATADI and WEDUNIT to take care of the rest.

SEVENTH RACE—FLYING CHEROKEE and VILLAGE VAMP should fight it out for the major part of this purse with CONTRIBUTE providing the third party in the money picture.

Western High basketers were extended to the limit to down the Friends five yesterday at Western. The team from across the creek jumped into a big lead after the intermission and was in front, 20-18, as the third period ended. Friends came to life in the finals and held Western scoreless, but just fell short of knotting the string.

TIREMEN SEEK ACTION.

A game with a 130-pound A. A. U. team is wanted by the Ennis Tire Co. for tonight. Phone North 6383.

D. C. SCHOOLS PLAY TODAY AT W. & L.

Eastern, Central and G. U. See Action in Court Tourney.

LEXINGTON, Va., March 1 (A.P.).—Early arrivals pulled in today for tomorrow afternoon's opening games in the tenth annual South Atlantic basket ball tournament at Washington and Lee University Thursday through Saturday.

Limited to sixteen teams with outstanding records, the tournament bids fair to outclass all predecessors, officials said.

R. A. Smith, director of athletics at the University, said that three officials will work each game, with the referee at the center of the floor and an umpire at each end of the court.

Eight games will be played tomorrow, four Friday and three Saturday before the conference championship is determined.

Because of the outstanding records of the sixteen competing teams, upsets were regarded likely. Eastern High School, of Washington, defending champion, had many followers, although other experts liked the chances of Central, of Washington, and George Washington High School, of Danville.

The pairings:

Thursday afternoon:

1:30—Danville, Va., High vs Eastern High, Washington.

2:30—Oak Ridge, N. C., Military vs Danville, Va., Military.

3:30—Parker High, Greenville, S. C., vs Tech High, Washington.

4:30—Staunton, Va., Military vs Hargrave, Chatham, Va.

Thursday night:

7—John Marshall High School, Richmond, vs Charleston S. C., High.

8—Greenbrier Military, Lewisburg, W. Va., vs Fork Union, Va., Military.

9—Central High, Washington, vs Asheville, N. C., High.

10—Augusta Military, Fort Defiance, Va., vs Georgetown Prep, Washington.

CRONIN AIMS AT "INSIDE" BASEBALL

New Pilot's System of Scientific Play Is Likened to Harris'.

vance notices had given him credit for. He admitted he was from "a crossroads named Riverdale, Joe-gia."

Half the players on the field took time out when the 6-foot-1, 190-pounder ambled over to his first pepper drill and made ready to field the hot little grounders. Suffice to say that he handles himself like Bluege. He made a couple of stops that caused the batter (Sad-panned Old Nick Altrock) to drop his bat, lift his cap and scratch idly at his collection of mauve dandruff.

Appear at Home At Bat.

He batted a few after a while and seemed as much at home with the stick as he is reputed to be. After the drill Travis said he was 19, going on 20, hit 36 doubles and 19 triples last year with Chattanooga, seemed surprised when asked if he batted fourth in the line-up and said, "No, seventh," and allowed as how he didn't care much whether Griffith and Cronin kept him with the team or sent him back to Chattanooga again. "I'll be up here some day, anyhow," said young Mr. Travis, and he said it as if it were a noncommittal fact, which I kind of think it is.

Well, Cronin detected that he was getting off the bag too quickly on practice steals by Johnny Kerr and took over the position himself, while the young third sacker looked on. On the whole, though, Joe is prone to be sort of enthusiastic over Travis. The kid has a beautiful throwing arm, gets the ball away from him with one of those motions that start the instant the grounder hits his glove and charges in after bunts like a sophomore half back in "fall on the ball" grid practice.

Cronin then went to work on Whitehill, Crowder, the Thomases, Stewart and Russell. Putting them in the box, and taking first base himself, Joe assigned Johnny Kerr to act as a runner on first with instructions to steal if he could. On the other hand the pitchers were supposed to catch Johnny off the bag. Frequently time-outs were called for a lecture in the science of picking off base runners. Lecture is probably not the word for these sessions.

They were more like seminars, with all hands joining in the discussion. Earl Whitehill, who is a bear at picking off runners, brought out an idea he had worked out over the winter and all the boys took a turn at it. The pitcher winds up briefly, then begins to nod his head, seemingly, at a point about half-way down the first-base line (which is believed to be confusing to a base runner), and then lets it fly, either at the batter or first base. Briefly, Whitehill's plan comes as close to balking as is possible or permissible.

Cronin Watches Every Position.

Joe Cronin is going through all nine positions in that inquisitive professorial manner, an idea which Walter Johnson, when manager, either rejected or overlooked and one which Bucky Harris used in 1924 and 1925. Under this system certainly one thing is obvious. If there are any stray ideas floating around the joint, they become the property of every player, which should mean something.

Joe has looked into this individual coaching situation pretty thoroughly. He's sensible enough to know that in some cases neither he nor anybody in baseball can change the habits of long standing.

"We're not going to do any tampering with the movements that are most natural to the boys. For instance, if Bolton simply can not get the knack of pegging bunted balls underhanded to the bags, we're not going to make him. But the things that he (or any of the others) is doing in an unorthodox manner that is hurting both his and the team's chances, we hope to straighten out."

MISS RICE NET WINNER.

Hamilton, Bermuda, March 1 (A.P.).—Virginia Rice, of Boston, ranked ninth among American women tennis players, today won the annual Bermuda ladies' championship by defeating Virginia Hillsary, of Philadelphia, ranked sixth, 10—8, 6—3, in the final match.

Radio Dial Flashes

By ROBERT D. HEINL

THE long wait of the radio fans who have wished for years that there was a logical outlet for the "Blue Network" programs of the National Broadcasting Co. ended yesterday. Today most of the regular WJZ features may be tuned in on WMAL. Nearly all of the sustaining features will be heard immediately. However, some of the WJZ commercial programs, such as "Death Valley Days," Wayne King's Orchestra and Howard Thurston's magic, will not be heard locally tonight because WMAL was not contracted for when the programs went on the air. This will hold true of programs every night for a while, and it will require a little time to give Washingtonians all of the WJZ attractions.

Washington talent will not be left out of the schedules. Many of the local features will continue to be used.

The WMAL personnel will include Carlton Smith, manager; Stanley Bell, Fred Shawn and Jim McGrath, announcers. Arthur Godfrey will be on the WMAL Breakfast Club each morning, but will continue his regular duties on WRC. Milton Baker will be the head of the program department. Mary Jane Klare and Mary Davis will be hostesses.

The engineering department is under the direction of H. A. Wadsworth, R. L. Hamill, C. S. Fisher, E. W. Burg, W. A. Parks and Theodore Belote complete the personnel.

ARTHUR GODFREY has been selected for master of ceremonies on the WMAL Breakfast Club, a daily feature, running for two hours each morning. He will give correct time at frequent intervals during a musical program.

Radio Joe and his Budget Boys will remain on WMAL. Radio Joe will stage his 237th program at 8 o'clock tonight, presenting his regular talent augmented by an act from Loew's Fox Theater. The Shoreham concert orchestra and Herb Gordon's orchestra will fill the hour from 8:30 to 9:30 o'clock.

George Reid, the One-Man Minstrel will return to the local air at 9:30 in one of his "Sam, Pussyfoot and Mr. Bill."

Frances Gutelius, pianist, well known to WMAL listeners, will follow at 9:45 o'clock. She will play "Valse Caprice" and "Nordland-Scherzo," by Henry S. Gregor, local pianist and composer. Miss Gutelius also will include Mozart's "Variations on an Original Theme," and "Over the Hills and Far Away," by Grainger.

"The Postilion," late news from The Washington Post, will continue to be a regular feature at 10 o'clock nightly.

THERE may be some question as to who has gained the first advantage in the scrimmage between the National Association of Broadcasters and the American Society of Composers in the fight over copyright music. However, the composers must be given credit for the first laugh.

Some time ago the situation became so acrimonious that Oswald F. Schuette characterized the composers as a bunch of "racketeers," or words to that effect. This was bitterly resented and as a parting shot, E. C. Mills, of the composers, wrote to us from New York yesterday:

"William H. Woodin is a member of our society and the whole organization is extremely proud of his selection by the new President as Secretary of the Treasury.

"I wonder if the National Association of Broadcasters would care to characterize him as a 'racketeer?'"

Amos 'n' Andy, those two venerable radio stars who several years ago inaugurated their taxicab business and who now are on the verge of establishing a newspaper, come to Loew's Fox Theater tomorrow to make their first stage appearance in the Nation's Capital. Amos is played by Freeman F. Gosden, while Andy is the role accepted by Charles J. Correll.

These two stars have a busy week in front of them, between doubling on Loew's Fox stage and doing a broadcast twice daily. Their first radio program from this city will be broadcast at 7 p. m. tomorrow evening and the second following at 11 p. m. the same evening, for the Western stations.

One thing certain is that Amos 'n' Andy will have plenty to do. Besides greeting numerous old friends from every section of the country who are here to attend the inauguration of President Roosevelt, they will do six shows at Loew's Fox tomorrow (Friday). Perhaps Nelson Bell will not mind our telling listeners their first stage appearance will be at 12:37 tomorrow. Other appearance on the opening day will be 2:56; 5:15; 7:34; 9:53 and 12:12, midnight.

Adolf Hitler will be heard over WJSV at 3 o'clock this afternoon, weather permitting, when Columbia picks up a part of a campaign address by the German Chancellor from Berlin. He will speak for about 15 minutes, following which Cesar Saerchinger, European representative of the broadcasting company, will give an English resume of the speech.

MORTON DOWNEY signed a contract on the gangplank of the Majestic the other day with M. Poulsen, owner of the Cafe de Paris, in London, just before the latter embarked for Europe. The popular C. B. S. tenor's London engagement, which begins early in June, will mark his seventh summer as an entertainer in the British capital.

It was in London, at the studios of the British Broadcasting Co., that Downey first sang into a microphone, some five years ago.

Lita Grey Chaplin and Bert Lytell, actor, will head the list of entertainers presented by Rudy Vallee and his Connecticut Yankees, over WRC at 8 p. m. Jans and Whalen and Brennan and Rodgers, vaudeville comedy teams, and Pauline Alpert, jazz pianist, will complete the list of guests.

Lytell will face the microphone in a one-act play entitled "The Valiant," in which he has had wide success in vaudeville. Lita Chaplin will offer a dramatic presentation of the new song "Subway Blues."

"PARSIFAL," Richard Wagner's sacred opera of the Holy Grail, will be broadcast in part from the Metropolitan Opera over WRC on Thursday, March 9. Lauritz Melchoir, Frida Leider, Gustav Schutzendorf and Friedrich Schorr will be included in the cast.

"Tales of the Foreign Legion," dramatic program originating in Chicago, will be heard over WJSV at 10 o'clock tonight. This is a change in schedule from Sundays at 10:30 o'clock. The leading roles are taken by Marigold Cassin, Douglas Hope, Vinton Haworth, a local boy, Willis Cooper, Stanley Andrews, John Daly, Ray Appleby and Tom Shirley.

The Pontiac program, featuring Col. Stoopnagle and Budd; William O'Neal, tenor; Jeannie Lang, singer, and Andre Kostelanetz's Orchestra (WJSV, 9:30 o'clock tonight) has renewed its series and will be heard for another 13 weeks.

Clara, Lu'n 'Em, who satirize the news events of the world over the WJZ network, arrived in Washington, D. C., yesterday (March 1) to tell a great part of the United States about Washington civic beauties and about the inauguration. Clara, Lu'n 'Em will attend the inaugural parade and ball as well as the inauguration, and were officially invited here by Admiral Cary T. Grayson.

In private life, they are Louise Starkey (Clara), Isobel Carothers (Lu) and Helen King (Em) and live in Chicago.

Bob White

The Old Philosopher

SAYS:

Question—Do you believe in a hereafter?

Answer: Yes. And so do you. So does anybody who thinks. Of course, a lot of people do not do even this. Now, I cannot understand how any one who sees the return of blossom and fruit, the reproduction of life at its varying seasons, can doubt a continuation of soul life. Surely the highest order of God's creation would not suffer less. Victor Hugo's great soul found utterance in his later years for thoughts on immortality. He said: "I feel in myself the future life. I am rising, I know, toward the sky. The nearer I approach the end, the plainer I hear around me the immortal symphonies of the worlds to come. The tomb, my friend, is not a blind alley: it is a thoroughfare. It closes on the twilight, it opens on the dawn."

Yes, I have this same feeling. I hold this same belief. This life is but the workshop in which we ply the tools to sculptor the soul—a house, as it were, of apprenticement.

Bob White, the old philosopher, will answer an outstanding question each week day on this page. He is heard twice daily over WMAL, at 8 a. m. and 4:30 p. m.

MAIL BIDS OPENED AS SENATE OBJECTS

Chamber Asks Delay When Black Says Project Is "Tainted by Fraud."

(Associated Press.)

Postmaster General Walter F. Brown left his office last night without revealing whether he respected the expressed wish of the Senate that he delay signing an ocean mail contract which Senator Black (Democrat), Alabama, called "tainted with fraud and corruption."

While Senator Reed (Republican), Pennsylvania, was opposing the Black resolution to request the delay, two bids for the contract—to carry mail from North Atlantic ports to the British Isles—were opened by W. Irving Glover, Brown's second assistant.

Department Delay Asked.

Then, as the Senate passed Black's measure and Senator McKellar (Democrat), Tennessee, sent Brown a petition from 33 senators asking delay on the department's part, the bids went into the hands of experts for checking. Glover had said the contract, if signed at all, would likely be signed yesterday afternoon. That was the last word on the contract from the department. Glover said all future statements must come from Brown.

The bids from the Philadelphia company and the Southgate Nelson Corporation, of Norfolk, Va., were identical so far as the Virginia firm's specifications went. The Southgate Nelson Corporation failed to bid on proposals to use the fastest and slowest types of vessels, and the Philadelphia company specified the route it sought was between Baltimore-Philadelphia and Liverpool-Manchester.

Black Charges Undue Haste.

The department's specification named a number of North Atlantic and British ports, with the exact route to be specified by the department.

In the hours of debate on his resolution, Black charged the Postmaster General with being ready to push through the contract before the change in administration. He claimed the Philadelphia company was to be given the award which, he said, would bring it a $10,000,000 subsidy in the next ten years.

Senator Reed denied any wrongdoing in connection with the contract. He said Pennsylvania interests were eager to have the contract awarded because "you know what happen to it under the Democrats."

Chapin Advocates Helping Democrats

Farewell Message Urges Business to Cooperate in Party's Efforts.

(Associated Press.)

Secretary Chapin in a farewell statement as head of the Commerce Department yesterday urged that business of the nation cooperate with the Democratic administration after it takes office Saturday.

He said cooperative activities were just as essential now as in 1918, and said there never has been a time when it was more necessary that business men should "rally their energies and brains along united policies more than right now."

"The great organizations representing business interests have a duty to confer with each other and as quickly as possible agree upon certain programs of cooperation," Chapin said. "The new administration needs this help and should have the combined backing of business organizations in every sound new plan that it promulgates."

"CAP" STUBBS — Thankful For Small Favors — By Edwina

A New Yorker AT LARGE

By MARK BARRON.

NEW YORK—Roaming through a rare group of old histories of New York, this department gathered these more or less pertinent facts:

Most historians insist that Nathan Hale was hung (or is it hanged?) on the exact spot occupied by his statue in City Hall Park.

(It is hanged.)

For 100 years Broadway was the only street that extended the length of Manhattan Island.

The first house in which a white man lived on Manhattan was at 41 Broadway. It was occupied by Adrian Block, a fur trader.

The first roasted chestnuts in the street were sold at the corner of Broadway and Duane in 1828 by a Frenchman (and what an industry that is today!).

At the same corner, also, the first sewing machine was exhibited. A historian of that time commented: "It is regarded as an impracticable toy, and is looked at daily by many persons who consider it a curiosity unworthy of serious attention.

Reason Street.

Barrow street in Greenwich Village was first called Reason street because it was here that lived Thomas Paine, who wrote (oh, you know, do you?) "The Age of Reason." The name was later corrupted to Raisen street and in 1828 it was given its present name. Today Barrow street is a sedate thoroughfare occupied by a group of respectable artists and writers who are too comfortable to be bothered about the warnings sounded by Paine.

Further about Greenwich Village, you should know that it is the oldest known settlement on Manhattan. When Hendrick Hudson landed in 1609, which is longer ago than your last income tax payment, it was an Indian village.

Even in those days it was famous as a haven for wild fowl and fish, and the vicinity of Washington Square was known as a most fertile one. It was also noted as possessing one of the healthiest atmospheres in New York, and in 1822 it became a boom settlement when a yellow fever epidemic arrived.

This is the only china in existence with this special badge or crest, and no doubt will become very valuable as time passes. Will sell the entire set for the highest offer over one thousand dollars. ALTHOUGH he had never had any instruction and could not read a note of music, Stuart Blier, Reading, Mass., boy, learned to pick out tunes by ear on his father's bass horn when he was only 4 years old. Stuart, now 5, plays several pieces on the horn, and is a member of the Metropolitan Firemen's Band.

A private railroad car was placed at the disposal of an unknown mother robin by the C. B. & Q. Railroad at Turney, Mo., when trainmen found that the robin had built her nest in the car—a freight car—while it was on a siding. The car was not moved until the little birds were able to fly.

Seattle, Wash., has a strange aquarium where strange fish are displayed. The fish and other aquatic animals—some of them rare specimens from the Pacific Ocean—are frozen in blocks of ice. The ice keeps the fish in perfect preservation and does away with the cost of operating an ordinary aquarium. The exhibition is located in a cold storage plant, and specimens range from shrimp to a 831-pound sea lion.

Tomorrow: Napoleon's Unmarked Grave.

A color reel of "Strange as It Seems" is showing this week at RKO-Keith's Theater.

THE REAL RUB.

Big lenders have signed a pledge not to press debtors. It isn't the pressing we object to; it's the dry cleaning.

Well, the Republicans went in on a wave of Mickey Mouse and Betty Boop and the Democrats are being swept into office with the jig-saw puzzle and 8-inch golf cups.

Cooking Held Cure Of Drinking Habit

Dr. Kress Asserts Proper Food Preparing Tends to Head Off Thirst.

A solution to the alcohol problem is in the kitchen, Dr. D. H. Kress, of the Washington Sanitorium, told the District Public School Association last night. Every saloon in the Nation would have been closed, the doctor said, if the housewives of the country had been educated to the part they could play.

This part, he said, is the serving of foods which do not stimulate the thirst for alcoholic beverages—fruits, vegetables, nuts and cereals, not highly seasoned. He declared beer is an intoxicating drink and asserted that while it may not cause "wobbly legs" a very little causes a "wobbly mind."

Robert L. Haycock, assistant superintendent of schools, declared the example children received in homes frequently undermines the efforts in instructing them in the classrooms.

'WOLF AT THE DOOR' CHOSEN WINNER OF PLAY TOURNAMENT

Individual Awards Go to James Plummer Rice and Wade Robinson.

From a group of four plays none of which was particularly outstanding, the dramatic editors of Washington newspapers last night selected "The Wolf at the Door," a burlesque on the old time melodrama, presented by the Troupers of East Washington, as the winner of the 1933 one-act play tournament. The plays were presented at McKinley high School under the auspices of the Community Center Department.

Second place was accorded "Betrayal," offered by the Religious Drama committee of the Washington Federation of Churches, a colorfully staged and well directed Biblical drama. Honorable mention was given "The Girl," a clever little battle of wits between two men of the world with a butler as comedy relief, the work of the Southeast Community Center.

"The Love Pirate," entry of the St. James Players, also was offered.

Prizes for Acting.

Jame Plummer Rice, who played the part of a Russian aristocrat, plunged to the depth of manual labor by communism, in "Highness," offered by the Montgomery Players in the preliminaries, won the acting honors. Philip Notes, the airport supervisor in "Retribution," another preliminary entry, presented by the Jewish Community Center, took second acting honors, and Hilmer R. Baukhage, of the Arts Club, third.

For voice and diction, Wade Robinson, of the Christian Endeavor Players, was given first place; Robert D. Chase, of the Arts Club, second, and Helen Burton, of "Betrayal," third.

Outstanding work was displayed in the finals by Virginia Barrett, Ted Tenley and Edward A. Finlayson, in the "The Wolf At the Door," by Helen Burton; M. Forney Reese, Herman Riess and Thomas M. Cahill, in "Betrayal," and by Jesse Veitch, Robert Trebor and Maurice Jarvis, in "The Girl."

Hissing Is Popular.

The cast of the Troupers of East Washington worked against a handicap of enthusiastic spectators who tried to emulate the effusion of hissing and applause showered on "The Wolf" when it was presented in the preliminaries.

The players are to be congratulated upon their restraint in refraining from doing what John Barrymore did one memorable evening in the last act of "The Jest." What did Barrymore do? Oh, he said something not exactly nice when the audience laughed. But that, like the 1933 one-act play tournament, is now past history.

Inaugural Parade Stand Fight Is Taken to Court

A controversy over who should get the proceeds of the sale of seats in the inaugural parade stands in the partially demolished building formerly occupied by the Metropolitan Hotel on Pennsylvania avenue northwest, yesterday went to the District Supreme Court, when the United Motor Terminals, Inc., which leased the property, asked the court for an injunction against the Hechinger Engineering Co.

The latter company, it was stated, had erected reviewing stands on the premises and had advertised seats for sale. About 4,000 seats are in the stands, and the revenue from the sale of them is the contention in the argument. The terminals company declared it had notified the Hechinger company that it desired the property soon, but the engineering company had gone ahead with the installation of parade seats.

W. C. Hueston Resigns Postoffice Legal Job

Judge W. C. Hueston, of Gary, Ind., who has served as assistant solicitor of the Postoffice Department during the past three years, yesterday resigned his position to devote his time to rehabilitation and mutualization of the National Benefit Life Insurance Co. and to the educational department of the Grand Lodge of Colored Elks, of which he is commissioner in charge.

His position in the Postoffice Department, judicial in character, was the first of its nature to be held by a colored man and, in a measure, provided a liaison between various colored postal organizations and department heads here. Before accepting this appointment he served one appointive term and two elective terms as municipal judge in Gary. He has opened his grand lodge office at 1216 U street northwest.

THIEF POSTS MAIL HE FOUND USELESS

13 Pieces of Registered Matter Are Found in Box After Being Stolen.

Thirteen pieces of registered mail, stolen yesterday morning from the Civil Service Commission at Seventh and F streets northwest, were recovered later in the day in a city letter box, apparently deposited there by the purloiner after he had found nothing of immediate value in the packages.

The mail, contained in a regulation U. S. mail sack, consisted mainly of documents of value only to the Civil Service Commission and was part of the regular morning consignment sent from the Treasury Department.

The mail was delivered in a Treasury Department mail truck, and, as usual, was left in an alcove near the entrance to the Civil Service building. As it was delivered at 7:30 a. m. no one was present to receive it, and the messenger left without getting a receipt, as also seems to be the custom.

The clerk in charge of collecting the mail sacks had no way of knowing what part was missing, and it was not until six hours later, when the empty sacks were found in an alley near Ninth and G streets northwest, that the matter was reported to police.

Frank V. Talbert, postal inspector, immediately launched an investigation and while Secret Service operatives, police and postal inspectors were in action, the mail was found in the letter box.

Frank Birgfield, chief clerk of the Treasury Department, issued orders yesterday afternoon that henceforth no mail shall be delivered by Treasury Department messengers without being receipted.

Joseph P. Hagerty was named exalted ruler of Washington Lodge No. 15, B. P. O. E., at the annual election of officers held last night at the Elks Club. He will succeed Leonard M. Gawler.

Edward M. Venable and William E. Keefer were named as trustees while, Mr. Gawler, the retiring ruler was named alternate delegate. Mr. Hagerty will name the appointive officers for chaplain, esquire and inner guard April 5.

AMBULANCE SPEED REGULATION DRAWN

Police Cars Also Would Be Restricted to 30 Miles Per Hour on Calls.

Corporation Counsel William W. Bride yesterday drafted a police regulation to limit the speed of ambulances, police vehicles and the fire rescue squad cars, in compliance with instructions from the District Commissioners and as a result of the fatal accident involving an Emergency Hospital ambulance at Fourteenth and E streets Monday night.

Earlier, Dr. Luther H. Reichelderfer chairman of the commissioners, called on the superintendent of Emergency Hospital for a report on the accident which resulted in the death of Oren Lentz, jr., 3 years old, and the injury of three persons.

The regulation would limit the speed of these vehicles to thirty miles an hour and would permit the passing of red signal lights only after the vehicle comes to a full stop and the driver is convinced that he can proceed with safety. It would also restrict the use of sirens to only the most urgent cases.

The regulation will not apply to fire apparatus, this now being governed by an order issued by Fire Chief George S. Watson that the drivers shall not resort to excessive speeds.

Under existing regulations District vehicles, such as fire and police vehicles and ambulances, are exempt from municipal speed restrictions. Drivers, however, are required to "drive with due regard for the safety of all persons using the streets."

There has long been agitation for the application of more rigid restrictions to the driving of policemen and ambulances on account of serious accidents which have occurred.

The commissioners will consider Mr Bride's draft probably today or tomorrow.

Three Persons Hurt In Automobile Crash

Three persons were injured, one seriously, yesterday when the automobiles of Robert H. Scroggins, 57, of Berwyn, Md., and Mrs. Martha A. Duehring, 35, Bethesda, Md., collided at Fessenden street and Belt road northwest.

Scroggins suffered cuts and bruises but his wife, Mrs. Minerva Scroggins, received possible internal injuries Mrs. Bessie N. King, 36, Berwyn, Md., a passenger in the Scroggins car, escaped with minor injuries. They were treated at Georgetown Hospital.

Phi Alpha Delta Admits Pennsylvanian to Its Membership.

Representative Howard W. Stull, of Pennsylvania, was made an honorary member of Phi Alpha Delta, George Washington University legal fraternity, at the annual banquet of the local chapter last night at the Hamilton Hotel.

Representative Stull was graduated from George Washington University in the class of 1906. His son, Harold W. Stull, a senior at the university and justice of the John Jay Chapter of the fraternity, aided in the initiation.

Bernard F. Garvey, alumnus, acted as toastmaster during the banquet. Among the other alumni attending were former Judge Michael M. Doyle and Interstate Commerce Commissioner Clyde Aitcheson. H. G. Spaulding, professor of law at George Washington, also attended.

DISTRICT OFFICIALS PLAN REDUCTION OF WATER REPAIR COST

Gotwals Would Aid Home Owners by Changing Maintenance Regulations.

District officials are planning to relieve Washington home owners of the expense of maintaining the water lines which serve them, it was revealed yesterday coincident with the announcement that Maj. John C. Gotwals, Engineer Commissioner, had proposed a change in regulations to permit the use of copper, as well as brass and lead, pipes in private systems connecting with District water mains.

The Water Department would still require property owners to pay for installing connections between the curb and water mains as at present, but, once the breaks are made, the District will make all repairs and replacements under the proposed plan.

District Made Repairs.

Maintenance of these so-called service pipes has largely been done by the Water Department under the present scheme, though only after private property owners failed to make repairs. In such cases the District has made the repairs and billed the property holders.

The plan is still in a tentative stage and may involve additional appropriations, according to water department officials, but the Engineer Commissioner is known to favor putting the scheme into operation before his term expires.

Choice of Metals.

The change in regulations to permit the use of copper pipes is proposed because of the prevailing cheap copper prices. Choice of any of the three metals would be optional under the regulation.

Ten per cent reductions in all water bills paid within a specific time is provided in the 1934 District appropriations bill. It is estimated this will save District residents between $100,000 and $150,000 a year, without handicapping the Water Department because of the surplus of revenues over expenses.

Shaw Is Pleased At Slash Failure

U. S. Employe Spokesman Says Conferee Policy Only Justice.

Gratification that conferees on the Treasury-Postoffice bill did not accede "to the hue and cry that further drastic wage cutting be given official approval," was expressed last night by John Arthur Shaw, president of the American Federation of Federal Employes.

"Refusal of the conferees of the Senate and House to countenance the imposition of further hardships upon Government employes is proof positive that the position of the employes is based upon principles of justice," he said. He said this was further emphasized by acceptance of the conference report by the House.

He said the action of the House is notice to the country "that the insidious practice of wage cutting must come to an end," adding that Government employes take "patriotic satisfaction" in leading the drive to stop wage cuts.

Agriculture Department's Pamphlet Ships Coals to Newcastle.

The Department of Agriculture shipped coals to Newcastle yesterday when they delivered a pamphlet on "The Spread of the European Starling in North America" to Daniel E. Garges, secretary of the board of District Commissioners.

"We know all we want to about starlings," he commented after discovering that the pamphlet offered no suggestions as to how to get rid of the sturnus vulgaris.

"Possibly we could have them arrested," he added when his eye lighted on the statement that "the starling is a natural vagrant."

The booklet did reveal that the birds were first brought from England and set free at New York. Eighty birds were released in Central Park in 1890 and 80 more in 1891, and from these 160 have come the countless thousands which have spread from Nova Scotia to the Gulf of Mexico and many points between.

SCHOOL BOARD PAYS TRIBUTE TO HARRIS

Praises Work of Late City Architect and Will Name Building for Him.

The memory of Municipal Architect Albert L. Harris, who died last Friday, was extolled by the Board of Education yesterday afternoon and decision was reached to name some future school building for him.

"The fine modern school buildings in Washington will stand as a monument to Mr. Harris," it was stated in a resolution drawn up by the committee on buildings and grounds, of which Mrs. Sydney Smith is chairman. "Our schools, designed by Mr. Harris, are equalled by few and exceeded by none."

Suggestion that a future school building be named after the deceased architect was made by the Rev. F. I. A. Bennett and agreed to by the board.

Dr. Bennett, who, at the last meeting, condemned the renovation work on the old Business High School, yesterday was equally emphatic in praise of the new eight-room addition to the Harrison School. He declared that this is one of the finest pieces of school work done in Washington. The addition is at Thirteenth and V streets northwest.

Success in providing hot lunches to children in a few selected schools led the board to investigate the possibility of continuing the service in other schools where it might be needed. Dr. Hayden Johnson, president of the board, was authorized to confer with Superintendent Frank W. Ballou to consider extension of the service and to select schools where the hot meals might be served to the best advantage.

The board took note of opposition of the Federation of Citizens Association to this service being conducted by the schools administration. The federation recommended that the work be confined to welfare organizations.

CHEVY CHASE AREA REZONING CASE SET

Connecticut Avenue Hearing to Be Held March 15; Church Involved.

A special zoning hearing will be held at 11 a. m. March 15 in the board room of the District Building to consider an application to rezone two lots on the west side of Connecticut avenue, just north of Northampton street, from residential to first commercial.

The hearing was scheduled yesterday because the issues involved affect proposed changes in the highway plan in the vicinity of Chevy Chase Circle, and the members of the present zoning commission, three of whom will probably be replaced before another regular quarterly hearing, are familiar with the plans.

Owners of the property involved are willing to dedicate 40 feet of property on the north side of Northampton street, between Connecticut avenue and Thirty-ninth street, to the District to provide for the widening of Northampton street from 50 to 90 feet. In return they want Thirty-ninth street to terminate at Northampton street and the two lots on Connecticut avenue rezoned.

Promoters of the developments also plan to move the Chevy Chase Baptist Church, now on Western avenue, to the rim of Chevy Chase Circle between Connecticut avenue and Western avenue. Between this church and the proposed stores, which would be erected just north of Northampton street, they propose to lease property to the Postoffice Department for construction of a substation.

Changes in the highway plan in this area have been under discussion for some time, and only a few weeks ago a public hearing was held by the Commissioners. At that time it was proposed to continue Thirty-ninth street to Oliver street, which would be opened on the west side of Connecticut avenue.

CAPPER PROPOSES 7 STEPS TO COPE WITH HOUSING CONDITIONS

States Rent Prices Have Not Followed Declines in Other Cities.

Seven steps to cope legislatively with the local rent situation were recommended to the Senate yesterday by the Senate District rent investigating subcommittee, in a report by Senator Arthur Capper (Republican), Kansas, retiring chairman of the Senate District Committee.

Holding a State of emergency in housing exists in the District, and declaring 10 per cent of all local families are dependent on public or private charity, the report recommended consideration of the following legislation:

1. Limitation on tenant evictions, where conditions merit intervention of the Government.

Says Competition Stifled.

2. A moratorium of not exceeding two years upon foreclosure of mortgages and deeds of trust on homes.

3. Authority for the commissioners to act to protect tenants in cases of emergency.

4. Passage of a resolution ordering a Department of Justice investigation of charges that competition in real estate transactions is being stifled.

5. Passage of resolution calling on Commissioners to enforce existing laws affecting public health, comfort and safety in connection with rented property.

Study of Insurance Rates.

6. Enactment of a bill requiring that heat be furnished in living quarters.

7. Adoption of resolution calling on Commissioners for a study of fire and title insurance rates and practices, with reference to fixing of rates and elimination of competition.

"There is in the District a dire lack of low-cost, sanitary housing," Senator Capper said in the report. "This condition is accentuated by the inability of municipal relief authorities to find adequate housing for families made homeless by eviction."

Early Consideration Urged.

He declared that rent levels in the District do not reflect the decline in the cost of practically all other commodities, or show the same decline as rents in other cities.

The report recommended early consideration of a pending bill for the creation of a housing board and authorizing the incorporation of limited dividend housing corporations in the District.

"The question will be given further study by individual members of the committee," Capper reported.

Clothes Aid Group Appeals for Pants

Articles May Be Given to Any Laundry Attaché for Delivery.

Faced with a shortage of men's pants, the Clothes Conservation Committee, located in the old Ford Building at John Marshall place and Pennsylvania avenue northwest, yesterday appealed for this article of apparel.

"We will be glad to receive old trousers in any condition. We have means of rehabilitating such clothing, and it will help some destitute man to at least have a presentable appearance in his search for a job. Clothing, and especially pants, can be left at any laundry station, delivered to any laundry driver, or brought direct to our headquarters," Mrs. Wymond H. Bradbury, director, said.

Mrs. Harvey W. Wiley is chairman of the Clothes Conservation Committee, which is operated with the Council of Social Agencies and the District of Columbia Committee on Employment. Clothes are distributed only on requisitions from accredited social agencies.
